7.1 Babur — Foundation & Literature

Zahiruddin Muhammad Babur | 1526–1530 | Chagatai Turk / Timurid (Timur + Chinggis claim) | Base Kabul 1504

- The Mughals were Chagatai Turks — from the line of Chinggis Khan's second son — with Timurid descent through Babur.
- Babur's full name was Zahiruddin Muhammad Babur. His father was Umar Shaikh (शेख) Mirza and his mother Qutlugh Nigar Khanum.
- Babur was born in 1483 at Ferghana. He took the throne of Ferghana in 1494 as a minor and lost Samarkand repeatedly.
- Shaybani Khan defeated Babur at Sar-e-Pul (1501) using Tulughma — Babur later reused the same tactic in India.
- Kabul in 1504 became his base. There Babur dropped the ancestral Mirza style and first took Padshah — before the Indian empire proclamation after Panipat (27 April 1526).
- Alam Khan was Ibrahim Lodi's uncle and a Delhi throne pretender. Daulat Khan Lodi and Dilawar Khan invited Babur from Punjab. Rana Sanga also invited him separately. Babur pursued his own empire.

- At the First Battle of Panipat on 21 April 1526 (GC; also 20 April in many texts), Babur's roughly 12,000 men faced Ibrahim Lodi's larger army (सेना). He used Tulughma, Araba cart-fortifications, and gunpowder under Ustad Ali Quli and gunner Mustafa in Ottoman/Rumi style. Cannons were used decisively for the first time in India at Panipat I (Bajaur 1519 is an earlier gun mention). Ibrahim Lodi was killed, ending the Delhi Sultanate (दिल्ली सल्तनत).
- Babur occupied Delhi and Agra and declared the Indian Mughal empire 27 April 1526.
- At Khanwa on 16 March 1527, he defeated Rana Sanga and the Mahmud Lodi confederacy. Babur broke the wine-cup, framed the fight as jihad, and took the title Ghazi.
- Babur's early Indian empire ran Kabul–Punjab–modern UP; it did not include Rajasthan (थार).
- Babur was called Qalandar for his generosity.
- Baburnama (Turki) is his classic memoir. He also wrote a Diwan, Mubaiyan (Muslim law), and Risala-i-Usaj / Khat-i-Baburi.
- The Baburnama mentions Hindu states Vijayanagara (विजयनगर) and Mewar (मेवाड़) among Indian powers he heard about.
- Abdur Rahim Khan-i-Khanan later translated the Baburnama into Persian.
- Mir Baqi, a commandant under Babur, built the Babri Masjid at Ayodhya (अयोध्या) — a sensitive UP fact to state carefully.
- Babur died on 26 December 1530 at Agra. He was first buried in Aram Bagh (Agra), the oldest Mughal garden in India built by Babur in 1528 in Charbagh (चारबाग़) style (originally called Bagh-i-Gul-Afshan / Hasht Bihisht, later renamed Ram Bagh by the Marathas), before his mortal remains were moved to Bagh-e-Babur, Kabul.
- Babur wrote the Baburnama in Chagatai Turki. The later Mughal court language was Persian, not Turki.
- Babur's early land assignments were iqta-like. The full mansabdari system belongs to Akbar, not Babur.

> Logic: Establishment year = 1526 Panipat, not Khanwa 1527.
> [!TIP] Exam Anchor — Baburnama & Court Language (UPPCS Format): - Assertion (A): Babur wrote his personal memoirs (Tuzuk-i-Babri / Baburnama) in his mother tongue, Chagatai Turkish. (True) - Reason (R): Turkish was the official court language of the Mughal Empire. (False — Persian was the official court, administrative, and literary language of the Mughal Empire). - Key Translation: Akbar ordered Abdur Rahim Khan-i-Khanan to translate the Baburnama from Turkish into Persian.

7.2 Major Battles — Master Chronology

First Battle of Panipat (21 April 1526 GC) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: Babur claimed the Delhi throne against Ibrahim Lodi, whose Afghan nobles were divided. Course: Babur's smaller army used Tulughma flanking tactics, Araba cart-fortifications, and gunpowder against Lodi's massed infantry and elephants. Result: Ibrahim Lodi was killed. The Delhi Sultanate ended. Babur founded the Mughal empire — year 1526.

Battle of Khanwa (1527) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: Rana Sanga of Mewar led a Rajput confederacy to challenge Babur after Panipat. Course: Babur again used artillery and cart-forts. Sanga was wounded and the Rajput coalition (गठबंधन) broke. Result: The Rajput challenge to early Mughal power was crushed. Babur secured the Agra–Delhi core.

Battle of Chanderi (1528) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: After Khanwa, Babur still faced independent Rajput pockets in Malwa. Medini Rai held Chanderi as a stronghold that could threaten the new Mughal flank.

Course: In 1528 Babur marched on Chanderi, laid siege, and forced the fort. Medini Rai's resistance ended with the fall of the citadel (दुर्ग).

Result: Babur cleared a major Malwa pocket between Khanwa and the eastern Afghan wars. Chronology memory is 1527 Khanwa → 1528 Chanderi → 1529 Ghagra.

Battle of Ghagra (1529) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: Eastern Afghan remnants, allied with Bengal's Nusrat Shah, still contested Bihar–eastern Gangetic control after Babur's early conquests.

Course: In 1529 Babur fought them on the Ghagra. Mughal firepower and cavalry broke the Afghan–Bengal combination.

Result: The eastern Afghan bid collapsed for Babur's lifetime. Panipat did not finish his Indian wars — Ghagra is the last of his four (चातुर्याम) big Indian battles before his death in 1530.

Second Battle of Panipat (5 November 1556) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: After Humayun's death, Hemu (Hemchandra) seized Delhi as a Sur-Afghan claimant. Minor Akbar needed restoration under Bairam Khan. Course: Mughal forces met Hemu near Panipat. Hemu was struck by an arrow and captured. Result: Akbar's throne was secured. The Sur-Afghan bid collapsed. Mughal expansion under Akbar could begin.

Mughal Schools of Painting — Teaching Card

Kitabkhana (किताबखाना) tradition | Persian + Indian synthesis

- Babur brought Central Asian manuscript culture; early Mughal painting grows under Humayun (हुमायूँ) after Safavid contact.
- Akbar's kitabkhana produced the illustrated Akbarnama and Hamzanama (हम्ज़ानामा) (large-format cloth paintings).
- Jahangir (जहाँगीर) preferred natural-history studies — flowers, birds, and individual portraits; Ustad Mansur is the famous bird painter fact.
- Shah Jahan patronised court albums and refined portraiture; architecture painting links to Taj Mahal (ताज महल) age aesthetics.
- Aurangzeb (औरंगजेब) cut court patronage; artists moved to Rajput and Deccan (दक्कन) courts — decline of imperial atelier, not end of Indian painting.

Year	Battle	Winner vs loser	Fact
1526	Panipat I	Babur vs Ibrahim Lodi	Empire founded
1527	Khanwa	Babur vs Rana Sanga	Rajput confederacy broken
1528	Chanderi	Babur vs Medini Rai	Malwa pocket
1529	Ghagra	Babur vs Afghans	Eastern Afghans
1532	Daurah	Humayun vs Afghan chiefs (Bihar)	Before Chausa
1539	Chausa	Sher Shah vs Humayun	Humayun escaped Ganga (गंगा)
1540	Kannauj / Bilgram	Sher Shah vs Humayun	Exile begins
1556	Panipat II	Akbar/Bairam vs Hemu	Mughal restoration
1572	Sarnal	Akbar (Gujarat)	Akbar's Gujarat victory
1658 Apr	Dharmat	Aurangzeb vs Jaswant Singh	Near Ujjain (उज्जैन)
1658 May	Samugarh	Aurangzeb vs Dara	Near Agra
1659	Deorai	Aurangzeb vs Dara	Ajmer (अजमेर)
1707	Jajau	Bahadur Shah I vs Azam Shah	After Aurangzeb

- Chronology of the four often-swapped fights is Daurah (1532) → Chausa (1539) → Kannauj / Bilgram (1540) → Samugarh (1658).
- Daurah and Dharmat are different battles. Daurah (1532) was fought by Humayun against Afghan chiefs. Dharmat (April 1658) was Aurangzeb's battle against Jaswant Singh.
- Another common order is Bilgram (1540) → Sarnal (1572) → Dharmat (1658) → Jajau (1707).
- Aurangzeb's succession sequence runs Shuja beaten near Banaras → Dharmat → Samugarh → Deorai.

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor — Mughal-Afghan Major Battle Chronology (UPPCS Master Spine): - Battle of Daurah (1532 CE): Humayun defeats Afghan forces on Gomti River. - Battle of Chausa (1539 CE): Sher Shah defeats Humayun near Buxar. - Battle of Kannauj / Bilgram (1540 CE): Decisive Sur victory forcing Humayun into Persian exile. - Battle of Samugarh (1658 CE): Aurangzeb defeats Dara Shikoh in the War of Succession.

- Another battle chronology spine: Bilgram/Kannauj (1540) → Sarnal (1572) → Dharmat (1658) → Jajau (1707).
- Aurangzeb's succession order: Shuja beaten near Banaras → Dharmat (Apr 1658) → Samugarh (May 1658) → Deorai (1659).

7.3 Humayun

1530–1540, restored 1555–1556 | Wife Hamida Banu | Sister Gulbadan (Humayunnama) | Brothers Kamran, Askari, Hindal

- Humayun's brothers Kamran, Askari, and Hindal (not Usman) divided the empire and weakened unity. Kamran held Lahore and Multan.
- Humayun's four key battles in order: Daurah/Devara (1532) → Chausa (1539) → Kannauj/Bilgram (1540) → Sirhind (22 June 1555) on return.
- Humayun won an early victory at Daurah in 1532 against Afghan chiefs in Bihar. This battle came before Chausa and must not be confused with Dharmat (1658).
- He lost Chausa on 26 June 1539 and escaped across the Ganga.
- He lost Kannauj/Bilgram on 17 May 1540 to Sher Shah (शेरशाह), beginning his exile.
- Humayun remained in exile from 1540 to 1555. Safavid Shah Tahmasp helped his return. He won Sirhind on 22 June 1555 and recaptured Delhi and Agra.
- Humayun died in January 1556 (tradition: fell on the stairs of the Dinpanah library).
- Haji Begum (Bega Begum) built Humayun's Tomb at Delhi — the first double-dome Mughal mausoleum. Architect Mirak Mirza Ghiyas designed it in Akbar's (अकबर) reign. It became the garden-tomb prototype for the Taj Mahal.
- Hamida Banu was Humayun's wife. Gulbadan was his sister and author of Humayunnama.
- Bairam Khan was regent for minor Akbar. Akbar gave him the title Khan-i-Khana — only statement 1 is true; statement 2 is false.
- Hamida Banu was Humayun's wife, not Alauddin Khalji (अलाउद्दीन खिलजी)'s.

7.4 Administration & Mansabdari

Nature: The Mughal Empire was a centralised agrarian-military state with a Persianate court. Mansab (मनसब) nobility drew salary from jagir (जागीर) assignment.

- The early Mughal state was essentially a military state. The strength of the central government rested on military power.

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor — Mughal Central Government Character (UPPCS Format): - Assertion (A): The Mughal Empire was fundamentally a Military State. (True) - Reason (R): The vitality and development of the central administrative apparatus depended directly upon its organized military strength and Mansabdari recruitment. (True, and explains A).

- At the centre, key offices were Wakil/Vazir (वक़ील / वज़ीर), Diwan-i-Wizarat (दीवान-ए-विज़ारत - finance), Mir Bakhshi (मीर बख़्शी - army and mansabs), Sadr-us-Sudur / Risalat (सद्र-उस-सुदूर - religious endowments and grants), Mir Saman (मीर-ए-सामां - imperial household), and Diwan-i-Insha (दीवान-ए-इंशा - drafting royal orders).
- Provinces ran Suba (सूबा under Subahdar / सूबेदार), then Sarkar (सरकार under Faujdar / फ़ौजदार), then Pargana (परगना under Shiqdar (शिक़दार) / शिक़दार and Amil / आमिल), then the village (under Muqaddam / मुक़द्दम and Patwari / पटवारी). Each suba had dual heads: Subahdar (executive) and Diwan (revenue). The Faujdar handled military-police duties at the sarkar level.

- Akbar organised 12 subahs. Under Aurangzeb the empire reached about 21 subahs.
- The nobility was composite: Turani, Irani, Indian Muslim, and Rajput elites served together.
- Mansabdari (Akbar) was the official nobility system. Each mansabdar held dual rank: zat (जात - personal status and pay) and sawar (सवार - cavalry obligation).
- Salary came from a jagir (जागीर) or cash (naqd). Khalsa (ख़ालिसा) was crown land directly under the emperor. Jagirs were rotated, not permanently fixed.
- Mansabdari began under Akbar. Mansabs were not hereditary — jagirs were rotated and ranks depended on imperial favour.
- Dagh (दाग़) meant horse branding. Chehra (चेहरा / हुलिया) was the descriptive roll of troopers.
- Jahangir introduced du-aspah sih-aspah (दो-अस्पा सिह-अस्पा), an extra horse obligation tied to the sawar rank.
- The highest common noble ceiling was about 7000 zat (the Man Singh class). Princes held higher ranks.
- A sarkar functioned as a district-level unit under the suba.
- Ahadis (अहदी) were the emperor's own disciplined direct troopers outside mansab rolls.
- The muhtasib (मुहतसिब) was the censor of public morals and market weights.
- Madad-i-Mash / Sayurghal (मदद-ए-माश / सयूरग़ल) were revenue grants to religious scholars and saints.
- Jahangir banned tobacco; Akbar issued Ram-Siya coins (रूपक) pairing Ram and Siya names.

7.5 Revenue — Zabt & Dahsala

Todar Mal (Akbar's revenue minister, trained under the Sur system)

- Zabt (ज़ब्ती) measured land with the jarib (जरीब) rope and fixed a cash demand from crop rates (rai / राय) per bigha.
- Dahsala (1580–81) (दहसाला बंदोबस्त) used a 10-year average of yield and price. It worked best in the Doab (दोआब) heartland.
- Land was classified as polaj (पोलज - continuously cultivated), parauti/parati (परौती - fallow 1–2 years), chachar (चाचर - fallow 3–4 years), or banjar (बंजर - uncultivated 5+ years).
- Patta (पट्टा) and qabuliat (क़बूलियत) continued the Sur practice of written peasant records and acceptance.
- Mal (माल) meant land revenue. The zamindar (ज़मींदार) was a hereditary local intermediary, unlike the non-hereditary mansab.
- Nasaq (नसक़), kankut (कनकूत - estimation), and batai (बटाई - crop sharing) survived where zabt was weak, especially in outer subahs.

7.6 Currency

- Sher Shah standardised the rupiya (silver, about 178 grains), the dam (copper), and the mohur (gold). Akbar continued this system.
- Akbar regulated currency on the same lines as Sher Shah. The chief copper coin (मुद्रा) remained the Dam.
- One dam was worth about 1/40 of a rupiya.
- Akbar issued Ilahi coins in the 1580s. Jahangir minted zodiac portrait coins.
- Major mints included Agra, Delhi, and Lahore, with more added as subahs grew.

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor — Currency Continuity from Sher Shah to Akbar: - Assertion (A): Akbar, following Sher Shah Suri, systematically reformed and regulated state coinage. (True) - Reason (R): As in Sher Shah's monetary system, the ubiquitous copper coin of daily exchange in Akbar's realm was the Dam (~380 grains). (True, and explains A). - Official Ratio under Akbar: Fixed tariff of 40 Dams to 1 Silver Rupee.

7.7 Architecture, Painting, Education

Akbar architecture (Fatehpur Sikri 1571–85, Agra district):

- Akbar made Fatehpur Sikri his capital after Shaikh Salim Chishti (चिश्ती). He abandoned it around 1585 because of water shortage.
- Buland Darwaza at Fatehpur Sikri commemorated Akbar's Gujarat victory of 1572. It was not built to mark Jahangir's birth.
- Key Sikri buildings include Panch Mahal (पंच महल) (five storeys), Jodha Bai palace, Jama Masjid (जामा मस्जिद), and Ibadat Khana (इबादत खाना) (religious debates from 1575).
- Akbar rebuilt Agra Fort (आगरा किला) in red sandstone. He built Allahabad/Ilahabad fort in 1583 — a major UP key fact.

Later monuments:

- Humayun's Tomb at Delhi became the Taj prototype. Akbar's tomb stands at Sikandra. Itimad-ud-Daula (Nur Jahan's father) shows early marble inlay.
- The Taj Mahal (1632–53) followed Mumtaz's death in 1631. Shah Jahan built Delhi Red Fort (लाल किला) (1639–48) and the Jama Masjid.
- The palace canal Nahr-i-Bihisht in Shahjahanabad drew water from the restored Firuz Shah Rajabwah.
- Monument chronology often tested is Atala Masjid (अटाला मस्जिद), Jaunpur (जौनपुर) → Sher Shah's tomb, Sasaram (सासाराम) → Humayun's Tomb, Delhi → Rabia Daurani / Bibi ka Maqbara (बीबी का मकबरा), Aurangabad.
- Aurangzeb lies in a simple grave at Khuldabad. Bibi ka Maqbara (बीबी का मकबरा) at Aurangabad was built for Rabia Daurani.

Painting:

- Akbar's kitabkhana (किताबखाना) produced illustrated folios of the Hamzanama and Akbarnama.
- Jahangir patronised natural-history painting, especially Ustad Mansur, under Jesuit print influence.
- Shah Jahan favoured formal court albums. After Aurangzeb, many painters moved to Rajput courts.

Education / culture:

- The empire supported maktab and madrasa education alongside Ibadat Khana debates.
- The Razmnama (रज्मनामा) is the Persian Mahabharata (महाभारत). Akbar introduced the Ilahi calendar in 1584 and celebrated imperial Nauroz.
- Kavindra Acharya Saraswati of Banaras was patronised by Shah Jahan.
- Dara Shikoh wrote Majma-ul-Bahrain and translated the Upanishads (उपनिषद्) into Persian as Sirr-i-Akbar.

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor — Buland Darwaza Commemoration (UPPCS Format): - Assertion (A): Akbar constructed the magnificent Buland Darwaza at Fatehpur Sikri. (True) - Reason (R): It was built to commemorate the birth of his son Jahangir. (False — built as a victory arch to commemorate the conquest of Gujarat in 1572–73 CE / Deccan victory in 1601 CE; Salim/Jahangir's birth was commemorated by the foundation of Sikri itself).

7.8 Akbar — Expansion, Rajput Policy, Religion

Reign 1556–1605 | Born Amarkot 15 Oct 1542 | Coronation Kalanaur (Gurdaspur) 14 Feb 1556 | Bairam Khan regent till ~1560

- Akbar was born at Amarkot (Umarkot) on 15 October 1542 during Humayun's exile.
- He was crowned at Kalanaur (Gurdaspur) on 14 February 1556 as a minor.
- His first Rajput marriage (1562) was with Harkha/Jodha Bai of Amber (Kachhwaha) under Raja Bharmal. Salim (Jahangir) was born of this wedlock.
- Conquest chronology: Malwa (1561) → Amber marriage (1562) → Karrani Orissa (1568) → Tukaroi (1575) → Bengal consolidation.
- Hakim Khan Sur commanded the Afghan contingent in Rana Pratap (प्रताप)'s army at Haldighati (हल्दीघाटी) (1576).
- Akbar abolished slavery (1562), the pilgrimage tax (1563), and jizya (1564).
- The Mahzar (1579) was drafted with Sheikh Mubarak; Din-i-Ilahi (1582) remained a tiny circle — Birbal (बीरबल) was the famous Hindu member.
- Razmnama is the Persian Mahabharata (महाभारत) supervised by Faizi (फैजी) with Badauni and others. Badauni also worked on a Ramayana (रामायण) translation. Faizi wrote Lilavati in Persian.
- Hari Vijay Suri was a Jagadguru contemporary of Akbar's religious debates.
- Ralph Fitch (फिच) was the first English traveller at Agra/Sikri — contemporary of Elizabeth I; the EIC charter came in 1600.
- At Panipat II on 5 November 1556, Akbar's forces defeated and killed Hemu.
- Akbar's major conquests ran in this order: Malwa (1561–62), Chittor (चित्तौड़) (1567–68), Gujarat (1572–73) — which produced the Buland Darwaza — Tukaroi (1575) followed by Bengal (1576),

Kashmir (1586), and campaigns into Kabul, Sind (सिंध), and the start of Deccan operations at Ahmadnagar.

- Akbar organised the empire into 12 subahs.
- His Rajput policy began with the 1562 marriage to Harkha/Jodha Bai of Amber. Loyal rajas received mansabs. Man Singh (मान सिंह) of Amber (about 7000 zat) fought at Haldighati in 1576 against Maharana Pratap — narrow Aravalli (अरावली) pass, Man Singh commanded for Akbar; Pratap withdrew to guerrilla resistance.
- Sulh-i-Kul meant peace with all faiths. Akbar placed Hindus in high office.
- Akbar abolished jizya in 1564 and lifted the pilgrimage tax earlier.
- From Ibadat Khana debates (1575 onward), he moved to Din-i-Ilahi in 1582. It remained a tiny court circle; Birbal joined, but it was not a mass religion.
- Social reforms included discouraging sati, marriage-age rules in the Ain, and encouraging widow remarriage in theory.
- Aurangzeb reversed this policy: he reimposed jizya in 1679 and ordered the Banaras temple destruction episode in 1669 — another UP fact.

7.9 Akbar's Court Personalities

Person	Role
Bairam Khan	Regent; Khan-i-Khana from Akbar — only statement 1 true; statement 2 false
Abul Fazl	Akbarnama + Ain-i-Akbari; murdered 1602 (Bir Singh Bundela / Salim)
Faizi	Brother; poet laureate; died 1595
Sheikh Mubarak	Father of Faizi/Abul Fazl; died 1593
Todar Mal	Zabt + dahsala
Birbal	Witty Navratna; killed 1586 Yusufzai (NW) campaign
Raja Man Singh (राजा मान सिंह)	Amber; Haldighati; Bengal/Bihar commands
Abdur Rahim Khan-i-Khana	Bairam's son; Hindi dohas; translated Baburnama
Tansen (तानसेन)	Dhrupad (ध्रुपद) Navratna; earlier Bhata/Rewa (Topic 6)
Daniyal	Akbar's son; died 1605

- Court death order: Sheikh Mubarak (1593) → Faizi (1595) → Abul Fazl murdered (1602) → Daniyal (1605).

7.10 Jahangir & Nur Jahan

1605–1627 | Birth name Salim | Memoir Tuzuk-i-Jahangiri (तुजुक-ए-जहाँगीरी) in Persian

- Nur Jahan (नूरजहाँ) (Mehr-un-Nisa) married Jahangir in 1611. She appeared on coins and farmans. Her junta included Itimad-ud-Daula and Asaf Khan — Jahangir remained emperor, not a "member" of the junta.
- Itimad-ud-Daula's tomb at Agra shows early Pietra dura (पिएत्रा ड्यूरा) inlay patronised by Nur Jahan.
- Jahangir introduced du-aspa sih-aspa (2-horse / 3-horse) cavalry rank, which increased military obligations and pay without altering the personal zat rank.
- Types of Mughal Jagirs:
- Tankha Jagir: Regular, transferable jagir assigned in lieu of cash salary (transferred every 3–4 years).
- Watan Jagir: Hereditary, non-transferable jagir assigned to autonomous Rajput rulers in their ancestral lands.
- Altamgha Jagir: Introduced by Jahangir — an irrevocable, hereditary imperial grant bestowed upon chosen noble families.
- Mashrut Jagir: Conditional jagir granted for meeting expenses of a specific military post or campaign.
- Jahangir installed the Chain of Justice at Agra Fort.
- The Treaty of Chittor (1615) settled Mewar under Amar Singh. He captured Kangra (कांगड़ा) in 1620–22.
- Captain William Hawkins reached India in 1608 with a James I letter for the EIC. He spoke Turkish well and was called "English Khan". The year 1611 is a common wrong date for his arrival.
- Jahangir banned tobacco.
- Sir Thomas Roe stayed at Jahangir's court from 1615 to 1619.
- The usual European-traveller arrival order is Ralph Fitch → Hawkins → Nicholas Downton → Roe.
- Jahangir's tomb stands at Shahdara, Lahore.
- Jahangir ordered the execution of Guru (गुरु) Arjan (गुरु अर्जन) in 1606 (Sikh topic).

7.11 Shah Jahan & Dara Shikoh

1628–1658 | Title Shah Jahan | Peak of marble architecture and formal court culture

Accession and court

- Prince Khurram took the throne in 1628 after Jahangir's death and the brief Shahryar episode. He ruled as Shah Jahan.
- His chief queen was Mumtaz Mahal (मुमताज महल) (Arjumand Banu Begum). She died in 1631 at Burhanpur after childbirth.
- Shah Jahan abolished sijda (सिजदा) (prostration before the emperor), softening a Timurid court ritual (कर्मकाण्ड) that many ulama disliked.
- He patronised Kavindra Acharya Saraswati of Banaras — a Banaras–Mughal cultural link often tested for UP.

Architecture and Shahjahanabad

- The Taj Mahal (1632–53) at Agra was built as Mumtaz's mausoleum. Shah Jahan himself was later buried beside her in the Taj.
- He built the Delhi Red Fort (1639–48) and the Jama Masjid (जामा मस्जिद) of Delhi when he shifted the capital focus to Shahjahanabad.
- The palace canal Nahr-i-Bihisht in Shahjahanabad drew water from the restored Firuz Shah Rajabwah.
- The Peacock Throne (Takht-i-Taus) displayed the empire's ceremonial wealth. The Moti Masjid (मोती मस्जिद) inside the Delhi Red Fort belongs to this marble age.
- Bibi ka Maqbara at Aurangabad (for Rabia Daurani) is a later family tomb in the Taj tradition, not Shah Jahan's own commission in Agra.

Campaigns — Cause, Course, Result

Bundela / Central India

- Cause: Bundela chiefs challenged imperial control after Jahangir's unsettled last years.
- Course: Shah Jahan's armies pressed Orchha and related Bundela strongholds; Jujhar Singh's rebellion was crushed in the early 1630s.
- Result: Mughal authority in Bundelkhand was reasserted, and the court regained a firmer grip on central Indian routes.

Portuguese at Hugli (1632)

- Cause: Portuguese settlers at Hugli mixed trade (पण्याध्यक्ष) with slave-taking and fortified autonomy that the court would not tolerate.
- Course: Mughal forces under Qasim Khan stormed Hugli in 1632.
- Result: Portuguese power on that Bengal stretch was broken; European trade thereafter depended more on imperial farmans than on armed enclaves.

Deccan (Ahmadnagar)

- Cause: The Nizam (निजाम) Shahi state was fragmented, and Bijapur–Golkonda rivalry left a vacuum the Mughals wanted to fill.
- Course: Shah Jahan's Deccan campaigns ended with the annexation of Ahmadnagar in 1636. Pressure on Bijapur (बीजापुर) and Golkonda continued through tribute and treaties rather than full annexation in his reign.
- Result: Ahmadnagar became a Mughal subah base; full conquest of Bijapur and Golkonda waited for Aurangzeb.

Central Asia and Kandahar (कंधार)

- Cause: Shah Jahan sought Timurid prestige in Balkh–Badakhshan and wanted to hold Kandahar (कंधार) against Safavid Iran.
- Course: The Balkh campaign (1646–47) advanced then collapsed under logistics and Uzbek resistance. Kandahar was lost to the Persians and never permanently recovered.
- Result: Northern prestige projects failed; treasure and manpower were drained without a lasting frontier gain.

Dara Shikoh and the succession crisis

- Dara Shikoh, the eldest son, held the title Shah Buland Iqbal. He wrote Majma-ul-Bahrain (Mingling of Two Oceans) and translated the Upanishads as Sirr-i-Akbar.
- His sisters Jahanara (जहाँआरा) and Roshanara pulled opposite ways in court politics. Shuja, Aurangzeb, and Murad were the other brothers in the later war.
- Shah Jahan fell seriously ill in 1657. The war of succession followed.
- Aurangzeb imprisoned Shah Jahan in Agra Fort from 1658 to 1666. Shah Jahan died there and was buried in the Taj Mahal.

> Logic: Shah Jahan = marble capital and failed Balkh/Kandahar; Dara = syncretic scholar, not the battlefield victor.

7.12 Aurangzeb — Succession & Campaigns

1658–1707 | Title Alamgir | Longest reign among the Great Mughals | Called Zinda Peer (living saint) by devotees

War of succession (1658–59) — Cause, Course, Result

- Cause: Shah Jahan's illness in 1657 opened a four-prince contest. Dara was the nominated favourite at court; Aurangzeb commanded the Deccan army and an orthodox following; Shuja held Bengal; Murad held Gujarat.
- Course: 1. Shuja was beaten near Banaras in early 1658. 2. At Dharmat (April 1658) near Ujjain, Aurangzeb defeated Jaswant Singh of Marwar (मारवाड़), who blocked the road for Dara. 3. At Samugarh (May 1658) near Agra, Aurangzeb defeated Dara. 4. Aurangzeb took Agra, confined Shah Jahan, and later turned on Murad. 5. At Deorai (1659) near Ajmer, Aurangzeb finally crushed Dara.
- Result: Aurangzeb became emperor as Alamgir. Dara was executed in 1659. Shah Jahan remained a prisoner until 1666. The succession order to remember is Shuja near Banaras → Dharmat → Samugarh → Deorai.

> Logic: Dharmat is Aurangzeb versus Jaswant Singh in 1658. Daurah (1532) is Humayun versus Afghan chiefs — never swap them. Jajau (1707) is after Aurangzeb's death.

Religious and social policy

- Aurangzeb reimposed jizya in 1679, reversing Akbar's abolition of 1564.
- In 1669 he ordered action against certain temples, including the Banaras episode often cited for UP.
- Court music and public celebration were curtailed in the orthodox phase; imperial painting patronage thinned, and many artists moved to Rajput and Deccan courts.
- Followers called him Zinda Peer. His own grave at Khuldabad stayed deliberately simple.

Rajput and Sikh fronts — Cause, Course, Result

Marwar–Mewar strain

- Cause: After Jaswant Singh's death, Aurangzeb tried to control Marwar succession and tighten orthodox policy, which broke the older Akbar-style Rajput partnership.
- Course: Rathore resistance and Mewar friction dragged through the 1670s–80s while the emperor's attention shifted south.
- Result: Rajput goodwill of the Akbar–Jahangir age was damaged; northern manpower became less reliable for Deccan wars.

Sikh confrontation

- Cause: Growing Sikh political organisation under the later Gurus collided with Aurangzeb's orthodoxy and Punjab control.
- Course: Guru Tegh Bahadur (गुरु तेग बहादुर) was executed in 1675. Conflict continued under Guru Gobind Singh (गुरु गोबिंद सिंह).
- Result: Sikh militarisation hardened; the Punjab problem outlived Aurangzeb into the Later Mughal century.

Deccan and Maratha (मराठा) wars — Cause, Course, Result

Bijapur and Golkonda

- Cause: Aurangzeb wanted to end Deccan sultanate autonomy and close the southern frontier after decades of tribute diplomacy.
- Course: He annexed Bijapur in 1686 and Golkonda in 1687. The last Qutb Shahi ruler was Abul Hasan Qutb Shah.
- Result: The empire reached about 21 subahs, but the new territories were expensive to hold and flooded the mansabdari–jagir market.

Marathas

- Cause: Shivaji (शिवाजी)'s swarajya (स्वराज्य) challenged Mughal revenue and forts in the western Deccan.
- Course: The Treaty of Purandar (पुरंदर) (1665) with Raja Jai Singh forced temporary submission. Conflict resumed; Sambhaji (सम्भाजी) was captured and executed in 1689. Endless guerrilla war followed under later Maratha leadership.
- Result: Aurangzeb spent his last decades in the Deccan. The treasury and mansab system were strained; Mughal primacy in the peninsula was never settled.

Administration, culture, death

- Bibi ka Maqbara at Aurangabad was built for Rabia Daurani. The Moti Masjid in Delhi's Red Fort is linked to this court's later marble work.
- Long absence from the north and endless Deccan campaigning weakened central supervision. Jagir shortfalls and unpaid mansabdars became structural (संरचनात्मक).
- Aurangzeb died in 1707 at his camp near Ahmadnagar and was buried at Khuldabad.

- Jajau (1707) came after his death, when Bahadur Shah I defeated Azam Shah — it is not a 1658 succession battle.

7.13 Tombs and royal families

Emperor–tomb cities: Babur at Kabul, Humayun at Delhi, Jahangir at Lahore, and Shah Jahan at Agra.

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor — Mughal Emperor Tombs Master Alignment (UPPCS / Civil Services): - Babur: Kabul, Afghanistan (Bagh-e Babur) - Humayun: Delhi (Nizamuddin / Dinpanah) - Akbar: Sikandra (Agra, Uttar Pradesh — domeless 5-storey apex) - Jahangir: Shahdara (Lahore, Pakistan) - Shah Jahan: Agra (Taj Mahal, Uttar Pradesh) - Aurangzeb: Khuldabad (near Aurangabad, Maharashtra)

Emperor	Tomb city
Babur	Kabul
Humayun	Delhi
Akbar	Sikandra (Agra belt)
Jahangir	Lahore
Shah Jahan	Agra (Taj)
Aurangzeb	Khuldabad (simple grave)
Rabia Daurani	Bibi ka Maqbara, Aurangabad

Royal families (one name = one fact)

- Hamida Banu was Humayun's wife and Akbar's mother.
- Gulbadan Begum, Babur's daughter, wrote the Humayunnama.
- Nur Jahan (Mehr-un-Nisa) married Jahangir in 1611.
- Mumtaz Mahal married Shah Jahan and died in 1631.
- Jahanara and Roshanara were Shah Jahan's politically active daughters.
- Shah Jahan's four sons in the succession war were Dara, Shuja, Aurangzeb, and Murad.

7.14 Later Mughals (1707–1857)

Identity: After Aurangzeb | Weak centre | Nobles and governors become kingmakers | Formal empire survives until 1857

Why the centre weakened

- Endless Deccan war, jagir crisis, and Rajput–Sikh alienation left a brittle succession in 1707.

- Provincial governors in Awadh (अवध), Bengal, Hyderabad (हैदराबाद), and elsewhere kept Mughal titles but acted as autonomous rulers.
- Foreign shocks — Nadir Shah (1739) and later Ahmad Shah Abdali (अब्दाली) — stripped treasure and prestige from Delhi.

Emperors in order (must-score spine)

Bahadur Shah I (1707–1712)

- He was Muazzam, also called Shah Alam in some texts, and took the title Bahadur Shah I after winning Jajau (1707) against Azam Shah.
- He tried conciliation with Rajputs and released Shahu (शाहू), which reshaped Maratha politics.
- Contemporary writers sometimes called him Shahe Bekhabar for his mild, indecisive style.

Jahandar Shah (1712–1713)

- He rose with the backing of Zulfiqar Khan (ज़ुल्फ़िक़ार), then fell quickly to Farrukhsiyar.

Farrukhsiyar (1713–1719)

- Real power lay with the Sayyid Brothers — Abdullah Khan and Hussain Ali Khan — the classic “kingmaker” pair (about 1713–1720).
- In 1717 he granted the English East India Company (कंपनी) an important farman (फ़रमान) for Bengal trade privileges.

Brief puppets after Farrukhsiyar

- Rafi-ud-Darajat and Rafi-ud-Daula (Shah Jahan II) were short-lived emperors raised and removed by the Sayyids.

Muhammad Shah “Rangeela” (1719–1748)

- He oversaw the fall of the Sayyid Brothers around 1720.
- He was the last emperor to sit on the Peacock Throne.
- His court refined later khayal (ख्याल) and tappa (टप्पा) music; he is the music emperor of the Later Mughal phase.
- Nadir Shah (नादिर शाह) of Iran defeated him at Karnal (1739), sacked Delhi, and carried away the Peacock Throne and the Kohinoor.

Ahmad Shah (1748–1754) and Alamgir II (1754–1759)

- Both ruled as the empire’s northern authority kept shrinking under Afghan and Maratha pressure.

Shah Alam II (1759–1806)

- He was defeated in the Battle of Buxar (बक्सर) (1764) world of Company politics and lived long under Maratha then British shadow (छाया).
- The Treaty of Allahabad (इलाहाबाद की संधि) (1765) framework left him a pensioned sovereign while the Company took diwani (दीवानी) in Bengal.

Akbar II (1806–1837)

- He remained a ceremonial Delhi emperor under British paramountcy.

Bahadur Shah II "Zafar" (1837–1857)

- He was the last Mughal, son of Akbar II.
- During 1857 rebels proclaimed him a symbolic head; after the rising he was tried and exiled to Rangoon, where he died.

Quick chronology traps

Trap	Correct
Bahadur Shah I = Bahadur Shah Zafar (बहादुर शाह ज़फ़र)	I succeeds Aurangzeb (1707); Zafar is last (1837–57)
Nadir Shah under Aurangzeb	Muhammad Shah Rangeela, Karnal/Delhi 1739
Peacock Throne last used by Shah Jahan only	Last sitting (बैठक) emperor on it = Muhammad Shah
Sayyid Brothers under Rangeela's whole reign	Peak kingmaking Farrukhsiyar era; broken under Muhammad Shah
