Later Mughals | Disintegration of the Mughal (मुग़ल) Empire | Nadir Shah (नादिर शाह) | Hyderabad (हैदराबाद) Nizam (निजाम) | Sawai Jai Singh | Independent State of Awadh (अवध) | British East India Company (कंपनी): Arrival | Arrival of British Travellers | European Trading Companies | Portuguese | Dutch | English | French | Danish

Sources baked in: NCERT Themes in Indian History Part II–III, RS Sharma Medieval India, UPPCS Prelims PYQs 2018–2025, Ghatnachakra Indian History (Advent of Europeans; Later Mughals / successor states) Weight: ★★★ — European arrival order, Almeida Blue Water, Albuquerque Goa 1510, Surat factories, Carnatic / Aix-la-Chapelle; Later Mughals; Awadh Last verified: September 2026 Current Affairs: N/A (purely historical)

12.1 European companies — frame

- Europeans came for spices, textiles, and bullion. Sea routes mattered after Ottoman control of older land paths.
- A factory was a trading post with godowns and guards, not a full colony.
- Early trade needed Mughal farmans and customs at ports such as Surat.
- The 1600 EIC charter is a trade monopoly, not rule over India.
- Territorial company rule (कंपनी शासन) is a later modern-history story (Plassey (प्लासी) 1757 (प्लासी), Buxar 1764 (बक्सर), Diwani (दीवानी) 1765 (दीवानी 1765)).
- Europeans prized Bihar for high-grade opium and saltpetre (shora).
- Arrival order of companies: Portuguese → Dutch → English → Danes → French.

Company	Charter	India
Portuguese	1498 voyage	Goa 1510 (गोवा)
English EIC	1600	Surat 1612
Dutch VOC	1602	Pulicat
Danish	1616	Tranquebar 1620
French	1664	Pondicherry 1674

12.2 Portuguese

Phase: First European sea power in India | Focus: Spice trade, coastal forts, cartaze tax

- Cause: Portugal sought a sea route to India after Ottoman control blocked easy land access to Asian spices.
- Course: Vasco da Gama, guided by the Gujarati pilot Ahmad ibn Majid, reached Calicut on 20 May 1498 and was welcomed by the Zamorin (Samuthiri). He did not capture Goa on that first voyage.
- Pepper (काली मिर्च) profits from that voyage were huge and pulled more Portuguese fleets to India.
- Pedro Álvares Cabral reached India around September 1500; a Portuguese factory rose at Calicut.
- The first Portuguese fort in India was built at Cochin in 1503 by Afonso de Albuquerque (not yet Viceroy).
- Francisco de Almeida arrived in 1505 as the first Portuguese Governor and Viceroy.
- His Blue Water Policy aimed at Portuguese control of the Arabian Sea and Indian Ocean trade, not deep inland conquest.
- Afonso de Albuquerque became Governor in 1509. He is the real founder of Portuguese power in India.
- He captured Goa from Yusuf Adil Shah (यूसुफ आदिल) of Bijapur (बीजापुर) in 1510 (the year 1499 in some stems is a trap).
- He took Malacca in 1511 and Hormuz in 1515 to guard eastern and Persian (फ़ारसी) Gulf trade.
- Nuno da Cunha (Governor from 1529) shifted the Portuguese headquarters from Cochin to Goa.
- Portugal built a chain of coastal forts at Goa, Daman, Diu, Cochin, and other points.
- Cartaze was a pass-fee Portuguese ships imposed on Indian Ocean merchants.
- In Bengal the Portuguese got leave from Ghiyasuddin Mahmud Shah (1534) for factories at Satgaon and Chatgaon; Hooghly later became their Bay of Bengal base and a piracy hub.
- Shah Jahan destroyed Portuguese establishments at Hooghly in 1632 and imprisoned thousands.
- Portuguese were the first Europeans to open medieval sea trade with India and the last to leave, exiting Goa in 1961.
- Result: Portugal dominated early spice trade but remained a coastal maritime power, never ruling Delhi or the Gangetic plains.
- Among famous travellers, Peter Mundy was English (Shah Jahan's time), not Portuguese — unlike Barbosa, Paes, and Nuniz.

12.3 Dutch (VOC)

VOC chartered 1602 | Rival to Portuguese, later rival to English

- The Dutch East India Company (VOC) was founded in 1602, two years after the English East India Company charter.
- Among options that omit the English, the Dutch are often keyed as the first joint-stock company in the India trade.
- Their eastern HQ was Batavia (Jakarta). Partners worked as a chartered private monopoly with war powers.
- An early Dutch factory was at Masulipatnam; in Bengal they used Pipali, then Chinsurah.
- At Chinsurah the Dutch fort was Fort Gustavus (1653 is the key Chinsurah year).
- Pulicat on the Coromandel coast was their main South Indian headquarters.

- After defeating the Portuguese they built Fort Williams at Kochi in 1663; Kochi entered the British sphere in 1814.
- Dutch factories also appear at Nagapattinam, Surat, Broach (भरूच), Agra, Ahmedabad (अहमदाबाद), Patna (पटना), Bimlipatam, Karaikal, and related Coromandel/Bengal points.
- The claim that Dutch east-coast grants came from Gajapati rulers is unsafe — Gajapati power had faded before the main Dutch Andhra–Odisha factory phase.
- Dutch power in India peaked in the 17th century but they were outcompeted by the English after naval and Carnatic decline.
- They never became a land empire in north India; their Indian role was trade and coastal factories.

12.4 English East India Company

Charter 31 Dec 1600 | Queen Elizabeth I | First permanent factory Surat 1613 | Emperor in India then: Akbar

- The Levant Company received a 1592 charter for land-route trade with India before the sea EIC.
- William Hawkins reached India in 1608 on the Hector.
- He went to Jahangir's court (arrived court 1609) and spoke Turkish.
- The claim that he came in 1611 as James I's envoy is false — Hawkins reached India in 1608.
- Under Jahangir (जहाँगीर), the English opened a temporary factory at Masulipatnam in 1611.
- Captain Thomas Best defeated the Portuguese at Swally near Surat (1612), clearing the way for a lasting foothold.
- The first permanent English factory rose at Surat in 1613. Surat was the early Western Presidency (प्रेसीडेंसी) before Bombay.
- By about 1619 English factories also stood at Agra, Ahmedabad, Broach, and related inland points.
- Sir Thomas Roe was ambassador in 1615–19 at Jahangir's court seeking farmans.
- Madras land for Fort St George (1640) was leased from a Vijayanagara (विजयनगर) representative.
- Bombay came as dowry when Charles II married Portuguese princess Catherine (1662) and was leased to the EIC in 1668 for £10 a year.
- Job Charnock, of the Kasimbazar factory, chose Sutanuti over Hooghly and founded the English base that became Calcutta.
- India's first modern Municipal Corporation was set up at Madras in 1688.
- Bombay Governor Sir John Child attacked Mughal western ports and hajj traffic around 1688; Aurangzeb ordered his expulsion.
- Hawkins did not conquer Delhi. Roe sought farmans, not a crown.

12.5 French

Company 1664 (Colbert, under Louis XIV) | HQ Pondicherry (1674, François Martin)

- The French East India Company was a state-backed venture. Colbert is treated as its founder.
- François Caron led the 1667 expedition and opened the first French factory at Surat in 1668.

- Marcara founded a French factory at Masulipatnam in 1669 with Golconda (गोलकोंडा) leave.
- Chandernagore is the French Bengal factory.
- Karikal, Mahe, and Yanam were other French pockets.
- Dupleix (1742–1754) first planted European troops in Indian courts at Indian expense and intervened in succession wars — the template the English later used.
- He was recalled in 1754.

First Carnatic War (1746–48) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: It was the Indian face of the War of Austrian Succession. The immediate spark was English seizure of French ships under Captain Bernett.

Course: The French took Madras in 1746. Nawab Anwaruddin sent Mahfooz Khan. The French under Captain Paradise defeated that force at St. Thome on the Adyar.

Result: Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle (1748) ended the European war and the First Carnatic War and returned Madras to the English.

Second Carnatic War (1749–54) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: After Aix-la-Chapelle, French and English companies backed rival claimants in Hyderabad and the Carnatic. Muzaffar Jang, Chanda Sahib, and the French challenged Nawab Anwaruddin.

Course: The Battle of Ambur (1749) opens the war. The French-backed coalition (गठबंधन) defeated Anwaruddin. Fighting then dragged through succession intrigue under Dupleix. The struggle is often keyed as inconclusive for a clean English–French balance.

Result: No lasting French supremacy emerged. Dupleix was recalled in 1754. The template of European troops paid by Indian courts survived for the English to use later.

Third Carnatic War and Wandiwash (1756–63) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: The Indian face of the Seven Years' War reopened Anglo–French conflict in the Carnatic after the inconclusive second war.

Course: At Wandiwash (1760), the British under Eyre Coote defeated the French under Count de Lally. British naval superiority and later Bengal wealth and manpower after Plassey–Diwani tipped the Deccan (दक्कन) balance.

Result: The Treaty of Paris (1763) (पेरिस) ended the Third Carnatic War. French political hopes in the Carnatic collapsed; Pondicherry and other factories survived mainly as commercial pockets.

Pondicherry occupation order

- The Portuguese were the first Europeans to occupy Pondicherry.
- The Dutch came next.
- The English also held Pondicherry for a phase (1793–1814) before returning it under the Treaty of Paris.
- The claim that the English never occupied Pondicherry is false.

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor — Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle (1748) (UPPCS Core): - End of War: Concluded both the First Carnatic War (1746–1748) in India and the European War of the Austrian Succession (1740–1748). - Restoration of Madras: English settlement of Madras (seized by French forces under La Bourdonnais and Dupleix in 1746) was restored to the English East India Company in exchange for the French regaining the fortress of Louisbourg in North America.

12.6 Danish East India Company

Chartered 1616 | Small Scandinavian presence | Sold to British 1845

- The Danish East India Company received its charter in 1616, entering India later than the Portuguese, English, and Dutch.
- Tranquebar (Tharangambadi, 1620) on the Coromandel coast is the standard key fact — Fort Dansborg still stands there.
- Serampore in Bengal became a Danish factory and later a famous mission press centre before British takeover.
- Danish settlements were commercially minor compared with the English and French but matter for factory-location match questions.
- In 1845 Denmark sold its Indian possessions to the British.
- Trap: Serampore is Danish, not French. Tranquebar is Danish, not Dutch.

12.7 Foreign travellers

Ibn Battuta (इब्न बतूता) | Moroccan | Rihla (रिहला) | Muhammad bin Tughlaq (मुहम्मद बिन तुगलक) court (~1334–41)

- Ibn Battuta served about eight years at the Tughlaq court as qazi (क़ाज़ी) and wrote Rihla, not Tughlaqnama (तुग़लक़नामा) (Barani (बरनी) wrote Tughlaqnama).
- Timur invaded India in 1398 and sacked Delhi, weakening the late Tughlaqs and opening the Sayyid interlude.
- Marco Polo was a Venetian who reached the Pandya coast around 1292 and described south Indian trade in his Travels.
- Niccolo de Conti was an Italian merchant who visited Vijayanagara, Cambay, and the Malabar coast in the early 15th century.
- Abdur Razzaq was a Persian ambassador to Devaraya II's Vijayanagara court (~1443) and left a detailed account of Hampi (हम्पी).
- Duarte Barbosa was a Portuguese factor who described Kozhikode trade and, with Nuniz and Paes, the wealth of Vijayanagara/Hampi in the early 16th century.

British travellers (EIC phase)

- Ralph Fitch (1585–91) is the earliest English name in the 2021 list.

- He saw Agra and Banaras in Akbar's (अकबर) time, before an EIC factory.
- William Hawkins arrived 1608.
- Nicholas Downton belongs to 1614 (Surat command).
- Sir Thomas Roe arrived 1615.

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor — Chronology of English Envoys to Mughal Court (UPPCS 2021 Spine): - 1. Ralph Fitch (1583–1586): Earliest English merchant traveler to visit North India and the court of Akbar at Fatehpur Sikri and Agra. - 2. Captain William Hawkins (1608–1611): First English East India Company envoy to attend Jahangir's court at Agra; received mansab of 400 and title 'English Khan'. - 3. Nicholas Downton (1614–1615): Commander who defeated Portuguese fleet off Swally and visited Mughal ports. - 4. Sir Thomas Roe (1615–1619): Formal ambassador of British King James I to Emperor Jahangir; presented credentials at Ajmer in January 1616.

12.8 Later Mughals and successor states

After Aurangzeb (1707) | Weak centre | Rise of Awadh, Bengal, Hyderabad, Marathas

Later Mughal spine

- Bahadur Shah I (Muazzam / Shah Alam) succeeded Aurangzeb and ruled 1707–1712.
- Contemporary writer Khafi Khan called him Shahe Bekhabar.
- Jahandar Shah (1712–1713) rose with the help of Zulfiqar Khan.
- He was defeated and killed by his nephew Farrukh Siyar in 1713.
- Farrukh Siyar (1713–1719) issued the 1717 farman granting the English duty-free trade in Bengal against a fixed annual payment of about Rs 3,000.
- The Sayyid brothers — Abdullah Khan and Hussain Ali Khan — were the powerful king-makers of this phase.
- They raised and removed emperors until they themselves fell under Muhammad Shah.
- Muhammad Shah (1719–1748), nicknamed Rangeela, spent little energy on serious administration.
- He was the last Mughal emperor to sit on the Peacock Throne (Takht-i-Taus) built under Shah Jahan.
- A clique of eunuchs and ladies is said to have dominated his court politics.

Nadir Shah (1739) — Cause, Course, Result

Cause: Mughal central power had collapsed into faction and unpaid frontiers; Nadir Shah of Iran saw Delhi as rich and weak. Course: He defeated the Mughals at the Battle of Karnal (1739) and then sacked Delhi. Result: He carried away immense treasure, including the Peacock Throne and the Kohinoor. Historian Anand Ram Mukhlis describes the huge booty taken to Iran. The invasion accelerated later-Mughal decline and regional autonomy.

Later emperors (quick line)

- Ahmad Shah (1748–1754) and Alamgir II (1754–1759) followed the Rangeela phase.

- Shah Alam II (1759–1806), earlier Ali Gauhar, reached Delhi with Maratha (मराठा) help in 1772.
- Wazir Ghaziuddin kept him from easy control of Delhi for a time.
- The English captured Delhi in 1803 during his reign.
- Akbar II (1806–1837) was followed by Bahadur Shah Zafar / Bahadur Shah II (1837–1857).
- Zafar is remembered as an emperor without an empire, a British pensioner at the Red Fort (लाल किला).
- Ibrahim (इब्राहिम) Zauq and Asadullah Khan Ghalib taught him poetry.
- Hasan Askari was his spiritual guide.
- He received about Rs 1 lakh per month as Company pension (plus other grants), so the claim that he received less than one lakh is false.

Hyderabad

- Chin Qilich Khan, titled Nizam-ul-Mulk Asaf Jah, founded the independent kingdom of Hyderabad.
- He defeated Mughal governor Mubariz Khan at Shakar Kheda (Sakhar-Kherda) in 1724.
- Kilich Khan is not the same person as Mubariz Khan.
- The emperor Muhammad Shah conferred the Asaf Jah title.
- The Nizamat (निज़ामत) of Arcot was a legal dependency of the Nizam's sphere, but it did not simply "emerge out of" Hyderabad state as a breakaway in the loose sense used in some distractors.
- Mysore (मैसूर) under the Wodeyars grew from a Vijayanagara vassal background — that statement is the safe one in the IAS 2021 triad.

Rohilkhand note

- Ali Muhammad Khan built Rohilkhand power after the chaos following Nadir Shah's 1739 invasion.
- Do not say Rohilkhand was simply carved from territories occupied by Ahmad Shah Durrani (whose Indian invasions start later, from 1748).

Sawai Jai Singh II (Amber / Jaipur)

- Sawai Jai Singh II (Jai Singh II, 1688–1743) founded Jaipur as a centre of science and art.
- He built well-equipped observatories (Jantar Mantar) at Delhi, Jaipur, Ujjain, Mathura, and Varanasi.
- He did not build one at Allahabad (इलाहाबाद).
- He prepared astronomical tables known as Zij Muhammad Shahi.
- He had Euclid's Geometry rendered into Sanskrit.
- He performed Ashvamedha sacrifices during his reign.

Awadh bridge

- Saadat Khan Burhan-ul-Mulk founded autonomous Awadh in 1722 under Muhammad Shah.
- He sided with Muhammad Shah against the Sayyid brothers and received the Burhan-ul-Mulk title.
- Full Nawabi teaching continues in the next section.

12.9 Independent State of Awadh

Mughal subah | Hereditary Nawabi from 1722 | Core Lucknow / Faizabad | UP heartland

- Saadat Khan Burhan-ul-Mulk founded the line in 1722.
- He took part in the conspiracy against the Sayyid brothers and received the title Burhan-ul-Mulk from Muhammad Shah.
- He is not the Bengal Nawab. Bengal's autonomous line starts with Murshid Quli Khan (मुर्शिद कुली खान).
- Safdar Jung (1739–1754) also served as Mughal Wazir.
- Shuja-ud-Daula (1754–1775) stood with Abdali at Panipat III (1761).
- After Buxar (बक्सर), the Treaty of Allahabad (1765) put Awadh under English pressure.
- Asaf-ud-Daula (1775–1797) made Lucknow the capital.
- The Bara Imambara is his Lucknow monument.
- Wajid Ali Shah was the last Nawab.
- The British annexed Awadh in 1856.
- The chronology is Awadh annexation 1856, then Indigo Revolt 1859, then Second Anglo-Afghan War 1878–80, then Ilbert Bill 1883.
- Annexation fed the 1857 Lucknow rising.
- Begum Hazrat Mahal led resistance after the Nawab was removed.

12.10 Master Fact-Locks — Disintegration of the Mughal Empire & 18th-Century Successor States

Sovereign / State	Key Historical Specifics & Events	Official Exam Anchors
Bahadur Shah I (Muazzam / Shah Alam I, 1707–1712)	• Eldest surviving son of Aurangzeb; ascended the throne in 1707 at the age of 63 after defeating brothers Azam (Battle of Jajau) and Kam Bakhsh. • Contemporary chronicler Khafi Khan bestowed upon him the famous sobriquet 'Shah-i-Bekhabar' (the Heedless King) due to his lax administration.	Successor to Aurangzeb
Jahandar Shah (1712–1713)	First puppet emperor in Mughal history; ascended the throne with the backing of powerful noble Zulfiqar Khan; denounced by contemporaries as 'Lampat Murkh' (the Lewd Moron); defeated and killed by his nephew Farrukh Siyar in February 1713.	Shortest early rule
Farrukh Siyar (1713–1719)	• Placed on the throne by the Sayyid Brothers (Abdullah Khan as Wazir and Husain Ali Khan as Mir Bakshi), who became famous across Indian history as the 'King Makers'. • 1717 Royal Farman: Granted the English East India Company duty-free trading privileges (Dastak) in Bengal in exchange for a meager annual tribute of Rs. 3,000 (hailed by Orme as the "Magna Carta of the Company"). • Dethroned, blinded, and strangled by the Sayyid brothers in 1719.	Sayyid brothers & 1717 Farman

Muhammad Shah 'Rangeela' (1719–1748)	• Nicknamed 'Rangeela' due to his continuous indulgence in wine, music, animal fights, and court pleasures, leaving imperial governance dominated by a faction of palace women (Koki Jiu) and eunuchs. • Last emperor to sit on the Peacock Throne (Takht-i-Taus) built by Shah Jahan. • Nadir Shah's Invasion (1739 CE): Persian ruler Nadir Shah routed the imperial army at the Battle of Karnal (February 1739), entered Delhi, and orchestrated a horrific nine-hour general massacre (Katl-i-Aam). Historian Anand Ram Mukhlis recorded that Nadir Shah carried away Rs. 60,000 in cash, crores in gold coin, the Kohinoor diamond, and the entire Peacock Throne back to Iran.	Sack of Delhi & Peacock Throne
Shah Alam II (Ali Gauhar, 1759–1806)	Escaped Delhi due to fear of Wazir Imad-ul-Mulk; fought at the Battle of Buxar (1764) and signed the Treaty of Allahabad (1765); restored to Delhi by Mahadji Shinde in 1772; blinded by Afghan chief Ghulam Qadir Rohilla in 1788; lived as a pensioner when the British captured Delhi under Lord Lake in 1803 CE.	British occupation of Delhi
Bahadur Shah II 'Zafar' (1837–1857)	• Son of Akbar II (r. 1806–1837); proclaimed figurehead leader of the 1857 Revolt; dubbed "The Emperor without an Empire"; poet guided by master bards Sheikh Ibrahim Zauq and Mirza Asadullah Khan Ghalib; spiritual mentor was Hasan Askari. • Pension Terms: Received Rs. 1 lakh per month as direct pension, Rs. 15 lakh for estate revenues, and Rs. 1,000 for regular family expenses. • Exiled to Rangoon (Burma) where he died in 1862 CE.	Last Mughal Emperor
Proverbial Tughluq Epitaph	The popular satirical Persian couplet "Sultanat-e-Shah-e-Alam, az Dilli ta Palam" ("The empire of the Emperor extends from Delhi to Palam") was originally coined for the late 14th-century Tughluq sultan Nasir-ud-din Mahmud Shah, reflecting the collapse of imperial authority to the immediate outskirts of the capital.	Historic dynastic proverb
Independent State of Awadh (1722)	Founded by Saadat Khan (Burhan-ul-Mulk) in 1722 CE; belonged to the Irani Shia faction; actively assisted Muhammad Shah in overthrowing the Sayyid brothers; succeeded by nephew Safdarjung.	Awadh dynasty founder
Independent Kingdom of Hyderabad (1724)	Founded by Mir Qamar-ud-din Khan (Chin Qilich Khan / Nizam-ul-Mulk), head of the Turani noble faction. In October 1724, he decisively defeated and killed the imperial viceroy Mubariz Khan at the Battle of Sakhar-Kherda (Shakar Kheda) in Berar, after which Muhammad Shah conferred upon him the title Asaf Jah.	Hyderabad dynasty founder

Sovereign / State	Key Historical Specifics & Events	Official Exam Anchors
Maharaja Sawai Jai Singh II (1688–1743)	• Kachhwaha Rajput king of Amber; founded the planned city of Jaipur in 1727 as a royal center of art, astronomy, and science. • Built five state-of-the-art astronomical observatories (Jantar Mantars) at Delhi, Jaipur, Ujjain, Mathura, and Varanasi (did NOT build one at Allahabad / Prayagraj). • Authored the renowned astronomical observation tables titled Zij Muhammad Shahi (1733) dedicated to Emperor Muhammad Shah; translated Euclid's Elements of Geometry* into Sanskrit; revived ancient Vedic rituals by performing two Ashvamedha sacrifices.	Royal astronomer & Jaipur founder
Origins of 18th-Century Regional States	1. Mysore Kingdom: Emerged under the Hindu Wodeyar dynasty as an autonomous state out of the disintegration of the southern Vijayanagara Empire. 2. Nizamat of Arcot (Carnatic): Established under Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb as a legal dependency/subah of Hyderabad, not carved directly out of the state. 3. Rohilkhand: Founded by Afghan chieftain Ali Muhammad Khan following the breakdown of central authority after Nadir Shah's 1739 invasion (NOT carved by Ahmad Shah Abdali).
