Topic 6 — Socio-Religious Reform Movements

> Sources baked in: NCERT Themes III, Spectrum, Bipan Chandra, Ghatnachakra Purvalokan (Socio-Religious Movements), UPPCS Prelims 2018–2025 Weight: ★★★ — founder ↔ institution, reformer ↔ work, Malabari / Age of Consent, Phule–Satyashodhak, region-stream traps (SNDP/Singh Sabha/Self-Respect) Last verified: September 2026 gap audit — Brahmo/Arya/Aligarh/Singh Sabha/Theosophy/Phule/Narayana Guru map confirmed; Young Bengal card expanded; Extra Drill present (no invented mega banks) Current Affairs: N/A (historical)

6.0 One clear picture — five reform streams by region

Nineteenth-century reform did not happen as one national movement. It grew in regional streams, each answering local pressures (missionaries, caste rigidity, colonial law). Hold this map first; every later card plugs into it.

Stream	Core region	Lead names	Central method	Key fact
Bengal	Calcutta and the Bengal presidency	Rammohan Roy, Debendranath Tagore, Vidyasagar, Keshab Chandra Sen, Derozio	Reasoned monotheism, print and English education, law reform (Sati, widow remarriage)	Brahmo Samaj; Sati 1829; Widow Remarriage 1856
Maharashtra	Bombay–Poona belt	Dadoba Pandurang, Atmaram Pandurang, M.G. Ranade, Jyotiba Phule, Pandita Ramabai, D.K. Karve	Anti-caste and anti-idolatry sabhas, women's education, widow remarriage in practice	Prarthana Samaj 1867; Satyashodhak 1873
Punjab	Amritsar–Lahore belt	Dayanand Saraswati (Arya base shifted here), Khem Singh Bedi, Gurmukh Singh	Vedic revivalism (Arya) and Sikh identity revivalism (Singh Sabha), both against missionary inroads	Arya Samaj strong in Punjab; Singh Sabha 1873
South	Madras presidency, Kerala, Tamil country	Sri Narayana Guru, E.V. Ramaswami Naicker (Periyar), Annie Besant (Adyar base)	Anti-caste temple entry (मंदिर प्रवेश) and priestcraft attack, rationalist self-respect	SNDP 1903; Self-Respect 1925
Muslim streams	North India and Bengal	Sayyid Ahmad of Rae Bareli, Haji Shariatullah, Mirza Ghulam Ahmad, Sir Syed Ahmad Khan, Nanautawi/Gangohi	Ranges from militant revival to modern loyalist college to traditional seminary	Aligarh 1875; Deoband 1866 (full comparative table in §6.7)

- No stream is purely religious or purely social. Bengal and Maharashtra reform pushed law changes (Sati, widow remarriage, age of consent). Punjab and the South pushed identity and caste questions harder.

- The South stream (SNDP, Self-Respect) is asked less often than Bengal/Maharashtra in UPPCS, but it is standard NCERT/coaching material and worth full cards, not a one-line footnote.
- Muslim reform is its own axis, not a regional stream — it splits by orientation (loyalist college vs traditional seminary vs militant revival vs peaceful messianic), not by one geography.

> Logic: When a question names an unfamiliar body, first place it on this map — region + method — before recalling the exact founder and year.

6.1 Raja Ram Mohan Roy

- He is called the Father of the Indian Renaissance (about 1772–1833).
- In 1815 he founded Atmiya Sabha in Calcutta for discussion against idolatry and social evils.
- In 1828 he founded Brahmo Sabha, later called Brahmo Samaj (ब्रह्म समाज).
- He campaigned against Sati. Lord William Bentinck banned Sati in 1829 (Regulation XVII).
- He brought out the paper Sambad Kaumudi and wrote Tuhfat-ul-Muwahhidin (a monotheist tract).
- He stood for modern education, including English, and for the use of reason in religion.
- Mughal (मुग़ल) emperor Akbar II gave him the title Raja (1830) and sent him to England on the pension question; he died at Bristol in 1833 (samadhi (समाधि) there).
- He did not oppose Western education — he backed English and scientific learning. Samachar Chandrika (Bhavani Charan (चारण)) was started against his reform line.
- He did not found Arya Samaj or Satyashodhak Samaj.

> Logic: Roy + Sati 1829 + Brahmo 1828. Satyashodhak is Phule, not Roy.

6.2 Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar

- He was a Sanskrit scholar and social reformer of Bengal.
- He was Principal of the Sanskrit College, Calcutta.
- He led the campaign for widow remarriage. The Hindu Widows' Remarriage Act was passed in 1856.
- He also worked for women's education and against child marriage and polygamy.
- He is not the Secretary of the Widow Remarriage Association. That post in the 2022 match is D.K. Karve.

> Logic: Vidyasagar = Sanskrit College + Widow Remarriage Act 1856. Bethune = girls' school.

6.3 Jyotiba Phule

- He worked in Maharashtra against caste inequality and for the education of girls and lower castes.
- He is associated with the Anti-caste Movement, not Civil Disobedience (सविनय अवज्ञा), trade (पण्याध्यक्ष) unions or a peasant party.
- With Savitribai Phule he opened schools for girls and for the lower castes.
- He wrote Gulamgiri (गुलामगिरी) (1873) against caste slavery.
- Shetkaryacha Asud is another of his works.
- He founded Satyashodhak Samaj in 1873 (next section).

> Logic: Phule ≠ peasant movement in the 2022 option set. The right label is anti-caste.
> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2022 Q1): Jyotiba Phule was associated primarily with the Anti-caste Movement in Maharashtra (not peasant or trade union movements as primary categorization).

6.4 Satyashodhak Samaj

- Founded by Jyotiba Phule in 1873.
- The name means a society for seeking truth.
- It attacked Brahmanical monopoly of religion and stood for the dignity of lower castes and women.
- It is not the same as Prarthana Samaj (Ranade) or Brahmo Samaj (Roy).
- Tarabai Shinde wrote Stri Purush Tulana.
- She is linked to this stream but is not the founder.

> Logic: Founder = Phule. Common traps: Roy and Ranade as founders of the Satyashodhak Samaj.
> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2022 Q84): The Satyashodhak Samaj (Society of Truth Seekers) was founded in 1873 by Jyotiba Phule to liberate Shudras and Ati-Shudras from Brahmanical domination.

6.5 Behramji Malabari

- He was a Parsi reformer of Bombay.
- He led a crusade against child marriage.
- He advocated the Age of Consent Act, 1891, which raised the age of consent for girls.
- Bal Gangadhar Tilak and the extremist (गरम दल) wing opposed the Act. They said the British should not interfere in Hindu marriage.
- Malabari supported the 1891 Act; Tilak and the Extremists did not.
- Later, the Sharda Act (1929) raised the statutory marriage ages again (girls 14, boys 18).

> Logic: Malabari supported the 1891 Act. Tilak did not.

PYQ — UPPCS Prelims 2024, Q17

With reference to the Age of Consent Act, 1891 consider the following statements:

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2024 Q17): Age of Consent Act (1891) was enacted due to relentless advocacy by Parsi reformer Behramji M. Malabari. It was opposed by Bal Gangadhar Tilak and orthodox Hindus as colonial encroachment.

6.6 D.K. Karve

Dhondo Keshav Karve (1858–1962) | Poona / Bombay | practised what he preached

- He worked for widow remarriage and women's education in western India.
- In the UPPCS 2022 match he is Secretary, Widow Remarriage Association.
- After his first wife died, he himself remarried a widow, Godubai, in 1893 — a rare act of practice, not just preaching.
- In 1896 he founded the Hindu Widows' Home Association at Hingne, near Poona, to shelter and educate widows.
- In 1916 he founded the Indian Women's University at Poona, the first women's university in India.
- The university was renamed the S.N.D.T. Women's University in 1920 after a donation from Sir Vithaldas Thackersey in memory of his mother, Shreemati Nathibai Damodar (दामोदर) Thackersey.
- He was awarded the Bharat Ratna in 1958, one of the earliest recipients.
- Do not mix him with Vidyasagar (Sanskrit College, Calcutta) or with Malabari (child marriage / Age of Consent).

> Logic: Karve = Widow Remarriage Association and SNDT Women's University (1916/1920). Vidyasagar = Principal of Sanskrit College.

6.7 Muslim Reform Movements — one comparative card

Five distinct streams. UPPCS mixes founders and orientations as traps — learn the row, not just the name.

Stream	Founder / leading name	Year / place	Orientation
Wahabi / Tariqah-i-Muhammadiya	Sayyid Ahmad of Rae Bareli (inspired in India by Shah Waliullah's reform line; Arabia's Abdul Wahab is the name-tag)	From the 1820s; briefly held Peshawar (~1830); died Balakot 1831; later Indian centre Patna (पटना)	Militant scriptural revival; later turned anti-Sikh and anti-British

Stream	Founder / leading name	Year / place	Orientation
Faraizi (फ़राज़ी)	Haji Shariatullah, later Dudu Miyan	From the 1820s, Bengal	Peasant Islamic puritanism; anti-landlord, anti-zamindar edge
Ahl-i-Hadith	No single founder (loose scholarly stream)	19th century, north India	Scripturalist; rejected later juristic and Sufi (सूफी) accretions
Ahmadiyya	Mirza Ghulam Ahmad	1889, Qadian (Punjab)	Peaceful, messianic and missionary; treated as heretical by orthodox Muslims
Aligarh (Aligarh Movement)	Sir Syed Ahmad Khan	1875, Aligarh	Modern Western-style college education; political loyalism to the British
Deoband (Dar-ul-Ulum)	Muhammad Qasim Nanautawi, Rashid Ahmad Gangohi	1866, Deoband (UP)	Traditional seminary revival of Hadith and fiqh; later turned more anti-colonial

- Wahabi and Faraizi were the earliest streams, rooted in the pre-1857 agrarian and religious unrest of Bengal and the north.
- After Balakot, Wahabi organisation ran through Patna with branches toward Hyderabad (हैदराबाद), Madras, Bengal, UP and Bombay.
- Faraizi under Dudu Miyan pushed an anti-English, anti-zamindar edge in eastern Bengal; later many followers merged toward the Wahabi stream (~1818–1862 arc).
- Ahmadiyya is the odd one out: it is peaceful and missionary, not revivalist-militant, and mainstream Muslim orthodoxy does not accept it as within the fold.
- Aligarh and Deoband are the two big post-1857 north-Indian answers, and they are opposites in method though both reacted to the same crisis of Muslim decline after 1857.
- Ahmadiyya is not the Aligarh college line, and Wahabi is not the Deoband seminary line — each has its own founder and orientation.

> Logic: Sir Syed ≠ Deoband. Nanautawi ≠ MAO College. Ahmadiyya ≠ Wahabi (peaceful vs militant).

Central Hindu College	Annie Besant (with Bhagwan Das)	1898, Banaras

Orthodox / defensive bodies (2022 Q18 traps)

Body	Correct place
Sanatan Dharma Rakshini Sabha	Calcutta — this is the correctly matched pair

Body	Correct place
Radhasoami Satsang	Agra (आगरा), not Lahore
Bharat Dharma Mahamandal	Varanasi (वाराणसी) / Banaras, not Delhi
Deva Samaj (Shiv Narayan Agnihotri)	Lahore, not Banaras

> Logic: Learn the wrong city as well as the right one. Radhasoami is Agra. Deva Samaj is Lahore.
>

Other match-list bodies (civil / social)

Body	Founder / tag	Year / place
Dev Samaj	Shiv Narayan Agnihotri	1887, Lahore; book Devshastra
Dharma Sabha	Radhakant Deb	1830, Bengal — orthodox defence vs Brahmo reforms
Radhasoami Satsang	Shivdayal Sahab / Tulsiram	1861, Agra
Widow Remarriage Association (Maharashtra)	Vishnu Parashuram Pandit	1850 campaign line
Indian National Social Conference	M.G. Ranade and Raghunath Rao	1887 — social agenda beside Congress
Servants of India Society	Gopal Krishna (कृष्णा) Gokhale	1905, Poona
Bahujan Samaj	Mukund Rao Patil / Shankar Rao Jadhav	1910 — Phule-inspired lower-caste organisation
Poona Sarvajanik Sabha	Joshi / Chiplunkar stream; Ranade joined early	1870 political association

- Sharda Act (Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929) fixed marriage ages at 14 (girls) and 18 (boys); named after Har Bilas Sharda.
- Slavery was made illegal by Act V of 1843 under Ellenborough.
- Nadars temple-entry demand sparked Tirunelveli riots (1899). Tilak's famous line: if God tolerates untouchability, he would not recognise such a God.

6.9 Bengal Reform Movements

- Bengal was the first big centre of the nineteenth-century reform debate (Calcutta elites, print, and English education).

- Tattvabodhini Sabha (1839) under Debendranath Tagore carried Brahmo ideas forward after Roy.
- The Sati ban of 1829 belongs to this Bengal debate.
- The Widow Remarriage Act of 1856 followed Vidyasagar's campaign.
- The Native Marriage Act of 1872 allowed civil / Brahmo marriage without idolatrous rites.
- Bethune opened a girls' school in Calcutta.
- Orthodoxy also organised in Calcutta — Sanatan Dharma Rakshini Sabha.

Young Bengal (Derozio)

- Henry Louis Vivian Derozio taught at Hindu College, Calcutta, in the late 1820s.
- His radical student circle is remembered as Young Bengal.
- They attacked idolatry, caste rigidity and blind custom, and praised reason, liberty and Western learning.
- The group was short-lived after Derozio's dismissal and early death (1831), but it remains the Bengal radical-student tag in match lists.
- Young Bengal is not Brahmo Samaj and not Phule's Satyashodhak work in Maharashtra.

> Logic: Native Marriage Act = 1872, not 1870/74/76. Young Bengal = Derozio / Hindu College, not Roy or Phule.
> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2019 Q17): The Native Marriage Act (Brahmo Marriage Act / Civil Marriage Act) was passed in 1872 through Keshab Chandra Sen's efforts, fixing minimum marriage age at 14 for girls and 18 for boys.

PYQ — UPPCS Prelims 2022, Q90

Match List-I with List-II and select the correct answer from the code given below.

List-I (Person) A. D. K. Karve B. J. E. D. Bethune C. Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar D. B. M. Malabari

List-II > [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2022 Q90): Key Reformer Matches: D.K. Karve ↔ Secretary, Widow Remarriage Association; J.E.D. Bethune ↔ Girls School in Calcutta (Bethune College 1849); Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar ↔ Principal, Sanskrit College Calcutta; B.M. Malabari ↔ Campaign against child marriage.

6.11 Brahmo Samaj

- Started as Brahmo Sabha in 1828 by Raja Ram Mohan Roy.
- It taught one God.
- It opposed idol worship.
- It attacked Sati, caste rigidity and meaningless ritual (कर्मकाण्ड).
- After Roy, Debendranath Tagore led the Adi Brahmo Samaj.
- Keshab Chandra Sen formed the Brahmo Samaj of India (Bhartiya Brahmo Samaj). Debendranath’s wing is Adi Brahmo Samaj — do not swap. Keshab also linked to Tabernacle of New Dispensation and Indian Reform Association; Calcutta Unitarian Committee is Roy’s line, not Keshab’s alone.
- Debendranath founded Tattvabodhini Sabha (1839) to spread Roy’s ideas and later appointed Keshab as Acharya.
- A further split produced the Sadharan Brahmo Samaj (1878), led by figures such as Ananda Mohan Bose, Shibnath Shastri and Umesh Chandra Dutta, after protest against Keshab’s style of leadership and the Cooch Behar marriage controversy.
- The Native Marriage Act 1872 is linked to Brahmo / civil marriage needs.
- Brahmo Samaj is not “Back to the Vedas.” That slogan is Arya Samaj.

> Logic: Founder = Roy 1828. Splits = Debendranath (Adi), Keshab (Brahmo Samaj of India), then Sadharan Brahmo 1878. Do not credit Roy with Arya Samaj.

6.12 Arya Samaj

- Founded by Swami Dayanand Saraswati at Bombay in 1875.
- It became very strong in Punjab, with a major centre at Lahore.
- The slogan was "Back to the Vedas."
- It rejected later Puranic accretions, idolatry and child marriage.
- It used shuddhi (reconversion) and built D.A.V. schools.
- Dayanand's book Satyarth Prakash is the doctrinal text. Birth name Mulshankar; Pakhand Khandini Pataka was raised in 1867. HQ shifted to Lahore (1877). Later split: Gurukul (गुरुकुल) line (Shraddhanand) vs D.A.V. line (Hansraj / Lala Lajpat Rai (लाला लाजपत राय)).
- He is often called the Martin Luther of India. He is also tagged as first to popularise Swaraj, Hindi as national language, and boycott (बहिष्कार) of foreign goods.
- Arya Samaj is not Brahmo Samaj and not Theosophical Society.

> Logic: Year 1875 is shared with MAO College. Do not mix the two founders.

6.13 Prarthana Samaj

- Founded in Bombay in 1867 under the inspiration of Keshab Chandra Sen.
- Atmaram Pandurang is the usual founder name. Ranade joined about 1869 and is tagged as the cultural-renaissance driver of western India.
- M.G. Ranade, R.G. Bhandarkar and N.G. Chandavarkar were leading members.
- It was a western-Indian cousin of Brahmo ideas. It stressed prayer, social reform, and caste and women's questions.
- It is not Satyashodhak Samaj. Ranade is a trap option for Phule's sabha.

> Logic: Prarthana = Bombay 1867. Satyashodhak = Phule 1873.

6.14 Paramahansa Mandali

Dadoba Pandurang | 1849, Bombay | secret precursor of Prarthana Samaj

- It was a secret society founded in 1849 at Bombay, well before the public Prarthana Samaj of 1867.
- Members pledged to reject idolatry and caste distinctions among themselves.

- Some members reportedly ate food cooked by lower-caste or Muslim cooks in private, breaking a personal caste taboo as a test of belief.
- Dadoba Pandurang was its leading figure. His brother Atmaram Pandurang later founded the public Prarthana Samaj in 1867.
- The Mandali stayed secret and small. It never became a mass public movement like Brahmo or Arya Samaj.
- It is the standard link card between early Bombay monotheist reform and the later, public Prarthana Samaj.

> Logic: Mandali = 1849, secret. Prarthana Samaj = 1867, public. Do not date Prarthana Samaj as 1849.

6.15 Ramakrishna Mission

- Ramakrishna Paramahamsa was a saint at Dakshineswar. He taught that different religions are paths to the same goal.
- His disciple Swami Vivekananda founded the Ramakrishna Mission in 1897.
- The Mission combines Vedanta (वेदांत) with social service (schools, relief, hospitals).
- Headquarters of the Math is at Belur (बेलूर).
- Vivekananda's Chicago speech is in his own section. Do not date the Mission as 1893.
- He preached Practical Vedanta and wrote Raja Yoga (योग), Karma (कर्म) Yoga, Jnana Yoga.
- Subhas Chandra Bose (सुभाष चंद्र बोस) called him the spiritual father of the modern nationalist movement in Bengal.
- Sharadamani (Sharada Devi) was Ramakrishna's wife. Sister Nivedita (Margaret Noble) was Vivekananda's Western disciple.

> Logic: Mission = 1897. Chicago Parliament = 1893.

6.16 Aligarh Movement

- Led by Sir Syed Ahmad Khan after 1857.
- Aim: Muslims should take modern Western education and remain loyal enough to recover ground under British rule.
- He founded the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College at Aligarh in 1875. It later became Aligarh Muslim University.
- He brought out the journal Tahzib-ul-Akhlaq.
- He also wrote a commentary on the Quran in a modernist frame.
- After 1857 he analysed the uprising in Asbab-e-Baghawat-e-Hind (1859) and argued that Muslims needed modern education to recover under British rule.

- This is not Deoband. Deoband is a seminary, not MAO College.

> Logic: Aligarh / MAO = Sir Syed, 1875. Archbold as a later Principal is an Education-topic fact.

6.17 Deoband Movement

- Dar-ul-Ulum Deoband was founded in 1866 by Muhammad Qasim Nanautawi and Rashid Ahmad Gangohi.
- It revived traditional Islamic learning (Hadith, fiqh) after 1857.
- It did not copy Aligarh's English-college model.
- Later many Deoband-linked ulama took a more anti-colonial political line than Sir Syed's early loyalism.

> Logic: Deoband 1866 is earlier than MAO College 1875.

6.18 Theosophical Society

- Founded in 1875 in New York by Helena Blavatsky and Henry Olcott.
- Indian headquarters were set up at Adyar (Madras) in 1882.
- It taught a universal spiritual brotherhood and drew on Hindu and Buddhist ideas.
- Annie Besant later became its famous Indian-phase leader.
- It is not Arya Samaj. Dayanand and the Theosophists cooperated briefly and then fell out.

> Logic: Founded 1875, New York. Indian HQ = Adyar, not Calcutta.

6.19 Vivekananda

- He was born Narendranath Datta.
- He was a disciple of Ramakrishna.
- He spoke at the Parliament of Religions, Chicago, 1893.
- He founded the Ramakrishna Mission in 1897.
- He stressed Vedanta, service of man as service of God, and national self-respect.
- He is not the founder of Arya Samaj or Brahmo Samaj.

> Logic: Chicago 1893; Mission 1897. Do not swap the two years.

6.20 Dayanand Saraswati

- He was born Mool Shankar in Gujarat.
- He became a sannyasi and a Vedic revivalist.
- He founded Arya Samaj in 1875 at Bombay.
- His main book is Satyarth Prakash.
- He preached "Back to the Vedas."
- He opposed idolatry, child marriage and untouchability in the Arya frame.
- He favoured Hindi.
- He is not the founder of Brahmo Samaj or Prarthana Samaj.

> Logic: Dayanand = Arya Samaj 1875 + Satyarth Prakash.

6.21 Sir Syed Ahmad Khan

- Muslim reformer and educationist after 1857.
- He argued that Muslims needed modern education to survive under British rule.
- He founded MAO College, Aligarh, in 1875 (Aligarh Movement section above).
- He wrote on the causes of the Indian Revolt and brought out Tahzib-ul-Akhlaq.
- In early politics he favoured cooperation with the British.
- He was suspicious of Congress as a Hindu-majority body.
- He is not a founder of Deoband.

> Logic: Sir Syed = Aligarh / MAO. Deoband = Nanautawi and Gangohi.

6.22 Annie Besant

Irish-born (1847–1933) | reached India 1893 | Theosophy and social/education reform

- She joined the Theosophical Society in England and moved to India in 1893 to work with the Society.
- After Olcott's death, she became President of the Theosophical Society in 1907, based at Adyar (Madras).
- In 1898 she founded Central Hindu College, Banaras, with the theosophist and jurist Bhagwan Das.
- Central Hindu College later merged into the Banaras Hindu University, founded in 1916 by Madan Mohan Malaviya (मालवीय). Besant is the college co-founder; Malaviya is BHU's founder — do not swap the two names.
- On social reform she pushed girls' education, criticised child marriage, and used the Theosophical ideal of universal brotherhood to soften rigid caste practice in the institutions she ran.

- Her papers were New India and Commonweal, used for both Theosophy and reform causes.
- She founded the Home Rule League in 1916 and later became the first woman President of the Indian National Congress, in 1917. Her Home Rule and Congress-presidency career belongs to the freedom-movement political story, not this socio-religious topic.
- She is not the founder of the Theosophical Society; that credit stays with Blavatsky and Olcott, 1875.

> Logic: Besant = President from 1907, Central Hindu College 1898. Blavatsky/Olcott = founders, 1875.

6.23 Sree Narayana Dharma Paripalana Yogam (SNDP) and Sri Narayana Guru

Sri Narayana Guru (1856–1928) | Kerala | Ezhava community uplift

- Sri Narayana Guru was a Kerala saint-reformer who worked mainly among the Ezhava community, then treated as a lower caste under Kerala's rigid caste practice.
- In 1888 at Aruvippuram he consecrated a Shiva idol himself, defying the rule that only Brahmins could perform consecration. This act is called the Aruvippuram Pratishtha.
- His teaching is summed up in the slogan "One Caste, One Religion, One God for Man" (Oru Jathi, Oru Matham, Oru Daivam Manushyanu).
- He built temples and monastic centres open to all castes, including the Sivagiri Matha.
- In 1903 his followers, led by Dr Palpu and the poet Kumaran Asan, founded the Sree Narayana Dharma Paripalana (SNDP) Yogam to organise the Ezhava community for education and self-respect.
- Kumaran Asan served as the Yogam's first general secretary and is also remembered as a major Malayalam poet.
- Narayana Guru inspired later Kerala reform, including support for the Vaikom (वैक्कम) Satyagraha (वैकोम) (1924–25), a protest for lower-caste right of way on roads near the Vaikom temple, which also drew Periyar's support from Tamil country.
- SNDP is not a Bengal or Maharashtra body. It is the standard Kerala / South stream anti-caste institution.

> Logic: SNDP = Kerala, Ezhava, 1903. Aruvippuram consecration = 1888. Do not place it in Bengal or Maharashtra.

6.24 Singh Sabha Movement

Amritsar, 1873 | reaction to missionaries and Arya Samaj pressure | Sikh identity revival

- The first Singh Sabha was founded in 1873 at Amritsar by Baba Khem Singh Bedi and Thakur Singh Sandhawalia.

- It grew out of anxiety over Christian missionary conversions and over the Arya Samaj's shuddhi campaign, which treated Sikhs as reconvertible Hindus.
- This Amritsar body is often called the Sanatan (conservative) wing, led by aristocratic and priestly Sikh leaders.
- A second, more reformist Singh Sabha was founded in 1879 at Lahore, led by Professor Gurmukh Singh and Bhai Ditt Singh. This wing is called the Tat Khalsa.
- The Lahore/Tat Khalsa wing pushed a sharper Sikh identity, opposed caste distinctions inside Sikh practice, and promoted Gurmukhi publishing and education.
- The movement founded Khalsa College, Amritsar, in 1892 for modern Sikh education.
- In 1902 the various Singh Sabhas united under the Chief Khalsa Diwan, based at Amritsar.
- This reform current later fed into the Gurdwara Reform Movement of the 1920s, which set up the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) in 1920 to take gurdwara management out of hereditary mahant control.
- Singh Sabha is not a branch of the Arya Samaj. Both reacted to the same missionary and reform pressure but built separate, competing identities.
- Keep Nirankari (Dayal Das / formless-God reform, earlier nineteenth century) and Namdhari / Kuka (Baba Ram Singh; Topic 8 chronology) distinct from the Singh Sabha institutional stream.

> Logic: Amritsar Singh Sabha = 1873 (Sanatan wing). Lahore Singh Sabha = 1879 (Tat Khalsa). Chief Khalsa Diwan = 1902. Nirankari ≠ Singh Sabha ≠ Kuka.

6.25 Pandita Ramabai

Pandita Ramabai Saraswati (1858–1922) | Maharashtra | Sanskrit scholar and women's reformer

- She was born to a Sanskrit scholar father, Anant Shastri Dongre, who unusually taught her Sanskrit and the shastras from childhood.
- Pandits of Calcutta recognised her scholarship and gave her the titles Pandita and Saraswati (सरस्वती) in 1878.
- In 1882 she founded the Arya Mahila Samaj at Poona to promote women's education and oppose child marriage.
- In the same year she testified before the Hunter Commission on the state of women's education in India.
- She travelled to England, where she converted to Christianity in 1883.
- In 1887 she published The High Caste Hindu Woman in the United States, exposing the suffering of upper-caste child widows.
- In 1889 she founded Sharada Sadan, a home and school for widows, first at Bombay and then moved to Poona.
- In 1898 she founded the Mukti Mission at Kedgaon, near Poona, sheltering destitute women, widows and famine victims.
- Do not confuse her with D.K. Karve: Ramabai ran women's shelters and wrote on widows' suffering; Karve headed the Widow Remarriage Association and later founded the SNDT Women's University.

> Logic: Ramabai = Arya Mahila Samaj 1882 + Sharada Sadan 1889 + Mukti Mission 1898. She is Maharashtra, not Bengal.

6.26 Self-Respect Movement and E.V. Ramaswami Naicker (Periyar)

E.V. Ramaswami Naicker, "Periyar" (1879–1973) | Tamil country | anti-caste rationalism

- He first worked inside the Indian National Congress and took part in the Non-Cooperation (असहयोग) Movement.
- He played a leading role in the Vaikom Satyagraha (1924–25) in Travancore, a protest demanding that lower castes be allowed to use public roads near the Vaikom Mahadeva temple. He took over leadership of the satyagraha at one stage, alongside local Kerala leaders such as T.K. Madhavan.
- He left the Indian National Congress in 1925, unconvinced that Congress would fight caste inequality seriously.
- In 1925 he founded the Self-Respect Movement, attacking Brahmanical priestcraft, the caste system, and orthodox Hindu textual authority.
- He promoted rationalism, widow remarriage, women's rights, and inter-caste marriage, and demanded temple entry (मंदिर प्रवेश) and priesthood rights for all castes, not only Brahmins.
- His journal Kudi Arasu carried the movement's ideas in Tamil.
- He later founded the Dravidar Kazhagam in 1944, growing out of the Self-Respect Movement and linked to the earlier non-Brahmin Justice Party (जस्टिस पार्टी) current in Madras politics.
- The Self-Respect Movement is a social and religious-reform current first; its later party-political offshoots are a separate, later story.
- Both his Non-Cooperation participation and his 1925 exit from Congress are true and were tested together in a UPPCS statement question.

> Logic: Periyar = Self-Respect Movement, 1925. Vaikom Satyagraha = 1924–25, Travancore. He is a South stream reformer, not Bengal or Maharashtra.
> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2023 Q44): Periyar E.V. Ramaswami Naicker participated actively in Non-Cooperation (1920–22) and the Vaikom Satyagraha (1924), and left the Indian National Congress in 1925 after communal seating at Cheranmadevi Gurukulam, launching the Self-Respect Movement.

6.27 Rahnumai Mazdayasnan Sabha (Parsi Reform)

Year: 1851 | Bombay | Parsi religious and social reform

- Founded in 1851 at Bombay by Naoroji Furdunji, Dadabhai Naoroji, S.S. Bengalee, and K.R. Cama.
- Aimed at the modernization of Parsi religion, restoration of Zoroastrian religion to its original purity, and social reform including female education and removal of purdah.
- Its official mouthpiece was the fortnightly journal Rast Goftar (The Truth-Teller), started in 1851 by Dadabhai Naoroji.
- Do not confuse Rast Goftar (Parsi reform, Gujarati/English) with Voice of India (Dadabhai's political organ) or Tahzib-ul-Akhlaq (Sir Syed's Muslim reform journal).

> Logic: Rahnumai Mazdayasnan Sabha = 1851, Bombay + Naoroji Furdunji / Dadabhai Naoroji + Rast Goftar.

6.28 Bahishkrit Hitakarini Sabha and Dr. B.R. Ambedkar

Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (1891–1956) | Maharashtra / Pan-India | Dalit (दलित) uplift & anti-untouchability

- Founded key anti-caste journals: Mooknayak (1920, supported by Shahu (शाहू) Maharaj of Kolhapur), Bahishkrit Bharat (1927), Samata (1928), and Janata (1930).
- Formed the Independent Labour Party in 1936 and the All India Scheduled Castes Federation in 1942.
- Do not confuse Bahishkrit Hitakarini Sabha (1924, Ambedkar) with Depressed Classes Mission Society (1906, V.R. Shinde) or All India Anti-Untouchability League / Harijan (हरिजन) Sevak Sangh (1932, Mahatma Gandhi (महात्मा गांधी)).

> Logic: Bahishkrit Hitakarini Sabha = 1924, Bombay + Dr. B.R. Ambedkar + motto "Educate, Agitate, Organise".
