Topic 9 — Rise of Nationalism

Sources baked in: NCERT Themes III, Spectrum, Bipan Chandra, Ghatnachakra Purvalokan (Political Organisations / INC / Moderates–Extremists), UPPCS Prelims 2018–2025 Weight: ★★★ — pre-INC chronology, Tilak never president, Moderates A/R, Naoroji 1901, sessions Last verified: September 2026 gap audit — Ilbert CCR + Surat CCR labels filled; Safety Valve table cleaned; Extra Drill present (no invented mega banks) Current Affairs: N/A (historical)

9.0 One clear picture — the arc of nationalism

Nationalism did not appear fully formed in 1885. Hold this arc; every card below plugs into one stage.

Stage	Rough years	Method	Key fact
Pre-Congress associations	1866–1885	Petitions, provincial lobbies	East India Assoc → Indian Assoc → INC
Congress founding, early Moderate phase	1885–1905	Prayer, petition, protest; safety-valve debate	Hume organises; Bonnerjee first President
Partition and Extremist rise	1905–1907	Swadeshi, boycott, passive resistance (निष्क्रिय प्रतिरोध)	Bengal Partition 1905 (बंगाल विभाजन)
Surat split and crackdown	1907–1911	Two rival wings; government exile/imprisonment of Extremists	Surat 1907; Mandalay deportations
Reunion and Home Rule	1916–1918	Lucknow Pact; Home Rule Leagues (दो लीग) (full detail Topic 12)	A.C. Majumdar; Besant/Tilak leagues
Gandhian mass phase	1919 onward	Mass satyagraha (सत्याग्रह) (full detail Topics 13–14)	Amritsar (अमृतसर) 1919 onward

Logic: Start every Topic 9 answer from the stage. Moderates are not "loyalists with no demands." Extremists are not "terrorists." Surat is a split, Lucknow is a reunion — never confuse the two 1900s-teen sessions.

9.1 Rise of Nationalism

- Modern Indian nationalism is the demand for political rights and self-rule, not only local caste or regional loyalty.
- It grew among the English-educated professional class after 1858, then widened in the Swadeshi and Home Rule years.

- Political causes included racial discrimination and Lytton (लिटन)'s reactionary years.
- The closed door of the ICS also fed political anger.
- Economic causes included the drain of wealth, high land revenue, the ruin of handicrafts, and famines under a rich empire.
- Social and intellectual causes included the press, railways, a common English-educated public, and socio-religious reform.
- Pre-Congress associations trained leaders in petitions, meetings and the press. Congress in 1885 gave them one all-India annual forum.
- Early nationalism was constitutional. After Partition of Bengal (1905) it split into Moderates and Extremists.

> Logic: Congress did not begin Indian politics. London, Calcutta, Poona, Madras and Bombay associations came first.

Ilbert Bill controversy (1883) — Cause → Course → Result

Viceroy (वायसराय): Lord Ripon (रिपन) | Law member: Courtenay Ilbert

Causes

- Under existing rules, Indian judges in the mofussil could not try European British subjects; European judges alone held that power.
- Ripon's liberal circle wanted to remove that racial bar so that Indian covenanted civilians could try Europeans in the same courts.

Course

- The Ilbert Bill (1883) proposed to allow Indian judges to try Europeans.
- Anglo-Indian planters, officials and the European press in Calcutta organised a furious racial campaign against the Bill.
- Educated Indians defended the Bill as a test of whether British justice meant equal law.

Results

- The government compromised: Europeans kept the right to demand a jury with a European majority.
- The controversy showed Indians that racial privilege sat inside colonial law itself, and it fed the political anger that pre-Congress associations and, soon after, Congress channelled.
- Hold 1883 Ilbert as a cause of organised nationalism — not as a reform that fully succeeded.

> Logic: Ilbert Bill = 1883 + Ripon. Result = compromise, not full equality. It is a political spark, not an Act that Indianised the ICS.

9.2 Political Organisations before INC

Bangabhasha Prakashika Sabha (~1836)

- Associates of Raja (राजा) Ram Mohan Roy (राम मोहन राय) started this early political discussion body in Bengal (~1836).
- Roy is tagged as the earliest Indian to push for political as well as social reform.

Zamindari Association / Landholders' Society (1838)

Year:1838Place: Calcutta Founders:Dwarkanath Tagore and fellow landlords

- Often keyed as the first organised political association in India using constitutional agitation.
- Aim: safeguard zamindar (ज़मींदार) rights — not a middle-class nationalist party yet.

> Logic: First political organisation key = Zamindari / Landholders' Society, 1838 — not Indian Association 1876 (इंडियन एसोसिएशन).

Bengal British India Society (1843)

Year:1843Place: Calcutta Link:George Thompson (brought from England with Dwarkanath Tagore's help)

- Thompson's efforts founded this body; both A and R in the UP R.O. A/R stem are true and R explains A.

British Indian Association (1851)

Year:1851Place: Calcutta President:Radhakant Deb; Devendranath Tagore and others among founders

- Merger-line of earlier landlord–elite politics; more conservative than the later Indian Association.

Hindu Mela (1867)

- Nabagopal Mitra (मित्र), inspired by Rajnarayan Bose, founded Hindu Mela to promote autonomy and indigenous goods.

Central National Mohammadan Association (1877)

- Founded at Calcutta by Syed Amir Ali.

Bombay Association (1852)

- Early Bombay political body often linked to Dadabhai Naoroji (August 1852 in chronology lists).

East India Association (1866)

Year:1866Place:LondonFounder:Dadabhai Naoroji

- Naoroji set it up to tell the British public and Parliament the Indian side of revenue, poverty and administration.
- It replaced the narrower London Indian student circles as a serious lobby.

- Indians and retired British officials both spoke from its platform.
- The East India Association (1866) is the earliest of the four; do not give that year to the Calcutta Indian Association (1876).

> Logic: East India Association = 1866 + Naoroji + London. Indian Association = 1876 + Banerjee + Calcutta.

National Indian Association (1870)

Year:1870Place: Britain Associated with:Mary Carpenter

- Mary Carpenter, the English social reformer, promoted education and social contact between Britain and India.
- The body was more social–educational than a mass political party (राजनीतिक दल).
- It sits after East India Association (1866) and before Indian Society (1872).

> Logic: National Indian Association 1870 ≠ Indian Association 1876.

Indian Society (1872)

Year:1872Place: London Link: Indian students; Ananda Mohan Bose memory

- A London society of Indian students for debate and political discussion.
- It sits after National Indian Association (1870) and before Indian Association (1876).
- Do not confuse it with Naoroji's 1866 East India Association.

> Logic: 2024 order uses Indian Society as 1872, item 3.

Poona Sarvajanik Sabha (1870)

Year:1870Place: Poona (Pune (पुणे)) Circle:G.V. Joshi (Sarvajanik Kaka), M.G. Ranade and Deccan public men

- It claimed to speak for the people of the Deccan before the government (sarvajanik = public).
- It sent memorials on famine, revenue, and local representation. In 1875 it petitioned the British House of Commons for India's direct representation.
- Ranade used it as a school of Moderate public work. Tilak later moved in a sharper direction from the same Poona world.
- It is not the Bombay Presidency Association of 1885.

> Logic: Poona Sabha 1870 = Deccan public body. Bombay Presidency Association = 1885.

Indian League (1875)

Year:1875Place: Calcutta Founder:Sisir Kumar Ghosh (of Amrita Bazar Patrika)

- A short-lived Bengal political body just before the Indian Association.
- It wanted a stronger all-Bengal political platform than the older zamindar-heavy British Indian Association (1851).

> Logic: Indian League 1875 (Ghosh) is not the Indian Association 1876 (Banerjee–Bose).

Indian Association (1876)

Year:26 July 1876Place: Calcutta Founders:Surendranath Banerjee and Ananda Mohan Bose

- This was the strongest pre-Congress political body in Bengal (often called the most important pre-Congress nationalist organisation).
- Banerjee cleared the ICS selection in 1869, but age trouble and a later judicial error led to his dismissal (~1874).
- He edited The Bengalee and later steered the Indian National Conference into Congress (1886).
- It agitated for ICS age limits, simultaneous papers, and against racial bars.
- It reached beyond zamindars to the educated middle class and students.
- Banerjee organised the Indian National Conference in 1883 and 1885 as all-India meetings. The 1885 Conference at Calcutta ran in the same season as the first INC at Bombay.
- Many of its methods and men later flowed into Congress.
- Among the four early bodies in chronology drills, Indian Association is the latest (1876).

> Logic: Indian Association = 1876 Calcutta, Banerjee + A.M. Bose. Not 1866. Not Naoroji's London body.

Madras Mahajan Sabha (1884)

Year: 1884 | Place: Madras Founders: M. Viraraghavachariar, G. Subramania Iyer and P. Ananda Charlu

- Presidency-level political association for the educated public of Madras, formed in May 1884.
- Associated with The Hindu newspaper (started 1878 by G. Subramania Iyer).
- It demanded legislative council expansion, civil service indigenisation, and separation of judiciary from executive.
- It is one of the three presidency bodies named in the syllabus, with Poona and Bombay, and acted as the chief Madras precursor to Congress.

> Logic: Madras Mahajan Sabha = 1884. Bombay Presidency Association = 1885. INC = 1885.

Bombay Presidency Association (1885)

Year:1885Place: Bombay Founders:Pherozeshah Mehta, K.T. Telang, Badruddin Tyabji (the Trimurti (त्रिमूर्ति) of Bombay)

- Bombay's elite political association, founded in the same year as Congress.

- It spoke for civic rights, councils and Indian officers in the presidency.
- Mehta became the Moderate "Lion (सिंह) of Bombay."
- Tyabji later became the first Muslim President of Congress, at Madras 1887.
- Do not date it in the 1860s. It is 1885.

> Logic: Bombay Presidency Association 1885 ≠ East India Association 1866.

PYQ — UPPCS Prelims 2024, Q15

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2024 Q15): Chronological order of pre-Congress organisations: East India Association (1866, London) → National Indian Association (1870/71, London) → Indian Society (1872, London) → Indian Association (1876, Calcutta).

9.3 Establishment of the Indian National Congress

Date:28 December 1885Place:Gokuldas Tejpal Sanskrit College, BombayOrganiser:Allan Octavian Hume (retired ICS) First President:Womesh Chunder Bonnerjee (W.C. Banerjee)Delegates: about 72

- Hume wanted a yearly gathering of educated Indians so discontent would have a constitutional outlet.
- The session was first thought of for Poona; it was held at Bombay.
- Delegates were lawyers, editors, landlords and professional men from several provinces — an elite start, not a peasant party.
- Early demands included Indianisation of the civil service.
- They asked for simultaneous ICS papers in India and England.

- They wanted expansion of legislative councils, a cut in military spending, and an enquiry into poverty.
- Lala Lajpat Rai (लाला लाजपत राय) and later R.P. Dutt argued that Hume founded Congress as a safety valve.
- On this view, Hume wanted to vent unrest so that it would not explode.
- Nationalist historians say Indians used Hume. They were not Hume's puppets.
- Congress was meant to meet once a year, pass resolutions, and go home. It was not yet a mass party with cadres in every district.
- Viceroy Lord Dufferin (tenure of the founding) mocked Congress as a microscopic minority / short-sighted minority.
- The British Committee of the INC was set up in London in 1889 under Sir William Wedderburn; it published the weekly India.
- At the Bankipur (Patna (पटना)) session, 1912 (President R.N. Mudholkar), Hume was publicly called the Father of Congress.

> Logic: First session = Bombay 1885 + W.C. Bonnerjee + Hume. First President is not Hume, not Naoroji, not Tilak.

Safety Valve Theory vs National Awakening view (राष्ट्रीय जागरण)

Two rival explanations of why Congress began. Notes test both sides, not just one.

	Safety Valve Theory	National Awakening view
Core claim	Hume, with hints from Viceroy Dufferin, wanted an organised, loyal outlet for educated Indian discontent so it would not turn revolutionary	Congress was the natural culmination of decades of political work by pre-1885 associations, the press and English education
Who argues it	Lala Lajpat Rai first floated it; R. Palme Dutt later gave it a sharper Marxist edge	Most nationalist historians (Bipan Chandra and others); William Wedderburn's biography of Hume defends his sincerity
Evidence used	Hume's own private hints about secret reports of unrest reaching the government; Congress's early loyalty to the British connection	Growth of the Indian Association, Poona Sarvajanik Sabha, Bombay and Madras bodies before 1885; Indians used Hume's organisational skill for their own ends
How to treat it	A theory about intent, not a proven fact — treat it as one interpretation	The dominant classroom view: Congress channelled a genuine, already-rising national consciousness

- Hume genuinely wanted reform; Indians were not his passive tools. Both things can be true at once — that is the usual "both statements correct, but not causally linked" trap in A/R questions.
- Do not write that Safety Valve is a "proven British conspiracy." It is a theory, most associated with Lajpat Rai in standard keys.

> Logic: If a stem asks who first suggested the Safety Valve idea, the standard name is Lala Lajpat Rai. If it asks who defended Hume, the name is William Wedderburn.

9.4 Congress Presidents and Sessions

Year	Place	President / fact
1885	Bombay	W.C. Bonnerjee — first President
1886	Calcutta	Dadabhai Naoroji — first of three
1887	Madras	Badruddin Tyabji — first Muslim President
1888	Allahabad	George Yule — first English President
1893	Lahore	Naoroji (second)
1896	Calcutta	Rahimtulla Sayani; Vande Mataram sung
1905	Banaras	G.K. Gokhale
1906	Calcutta	Naoroji (third); Swaraj used as a Congress goal
1907	Surat	Split; Rash Behari Ghosh vs Extremists
1911	Calcutta	Bishan Narayan Dar; Jana Gana Mana sung
1912	Bankipur (Patna)	R.N. Mudholkar; Hume called Father of Congress
1916	Lucknow	A.C. Majumdar; Moderate–Extremist reunion; Lucknow Pact with the League
1917	Calcutta	Annie Besant — first woman President
1919	Amritsar	Motilal Nehru
1920	Calcutta (Special)	Lala Lajpat Rai
1920	Nagpur	C. Vijayaraghavachariar (regular session)
1924	Belgaum	M.K. Gandhi — only session he presided
1925	Kanpur	Sarojini Naidu — first Indian woman President
1929	Lahore	Jawaharlal Nehru — Purna Swaraj (26 Jan 1930 Independence Day)
1931	Karachi	Vallabhbhai Patel — Fundamental Rights + National Economic Programme
1937	Faizpur	Nehru — first session in a village
1938	Haripura	Subhas Chandra Bose
1939	Tripuri	Bose again; then Rajendra Prasad after the crisis
1940	Ramgarh	Abul Kalam Azad
1946	Meerut (मेरठ)	J.B. Kripalani

- Bal Gangadhar Tilak (बाल गंगाधर तिलक) never presided over an INC session.
- Lajpat Rai, Gokhale and Subhas Bose did preside.
- Naoroji is the early leader who presided three times (1886, 1893, 1906).
- Lucknow Pact is 1916, not 1911.
- The 1911 Delhi Durbar package linked partition annulment with moving the capital to Delhi — not the Lucknow Pact.
- Ramgarh 1940 came after Congress ministries resigned in 1939, before the August Offer (अगस्त प्रस्ताव) and Cripps (क्रिप्स) Mission.

> Logic: Burn Tilak = never President. Besant 1917 is the first woman President. Sarojini 1925 is the first Indian woman President. Gandhi's only presidency is Belgaum.

PYQ — UPPCS Prelims 2021, Q50

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2021 Q50): Bal Gangadhar Tilak was NEVER elected as President of the Indian National Congress, despite being one of its most prominent leaders. Lala Lajpat Rai (1920 Special Calcutta), Gokhale (1905 Banaras), and Subhash Bose (1938 Haripura, 1939 Tripuri) all presided.

9.5 Congress Policies (early years)

- The method was constitutional agitation.
- Leaders used petitions, the press, speeches, and memorials to Parliament.
- The schoolbook tag is prayer, petition, protest.
- On services, they wanted to Indianise the ICS, hold papers in India, and raise the age limit so Indians could compete.
- On councils, they wanted more Indians and more discussion of the budget. This was a step towards representative government, not yet full Swaraj.
- On the economy, they attacked the drain, high military spending, and revenue that ignored famines.
- On civil rights, they opposed racial bars in justice and jobs. The Ilbert controversy had already shown the wound.
- Moderates valued the British connection if it were run on British liberal principles. That is the "Un-British rule" complaint: the Raj was not living up to its own ideals.
- Extremists later said these policies had no sanction (no boycott, no mass refusal). Surat 1907 is that fight.

> Logic: Early Congress did have an economic programme (drain, poverty, military cuts). It was not a revolutionary terrorist body.

Moderate economic demands — checklist

Early Congress built a full economic programme around Naoroji's drain critique. Learn it as a checklist, not a vague "they wanted reform" line.

1. Cut the drain of wealth — reduce home charges (होम चार्जेस), pensions and guaranteed interest paid to Britain.
2. Reduce the land revenue burden; some Moderates wanted the Bengal Permanent Settlement (स्थायी बंदोबस्त) model extended to other provinces.
3. Cut military expenditure and demand a fair India–Britain share of defence costs.
4. Protect and develop Indian industry — tariff protection against Lancashire cloth and other British imports.
5. Provide proper famine relief and public works instead of revenue rigidity during crop failure.
6. Hold simultaneous ICS examinations in India and raise the age limit so Indians could compete fairly.
7. Expand legislative councils with more elected Indians and real budget-discussion rights.
8. Separate the judiciary from the executive at the district level to curb racial bias in justice (the Ilbert wound).

> Logic: This checklist is the "Congress did have an economic programme" answer to any statement claiming Moderates were pure loyalists with no demands.

9.6 Moderates (Naram Dal)

- Moderates dominated Congress from 1885 to the early 1900s.
- The leading Moderates were Dadabhai Naoroji, G.K. Gokhale, Pherozeshah Mehta and Dinshaw Wacha.
- Surendranath Banerjee also belongs to this phase.
- They believed British rule could modernise India through law, railways and English education, if it were just.
- That is the Moderate belief that British rule could modernise India through law, railways and English education.
- They attacked exploitation as “Un-British rule.”
- That meant a betrayal of British liberty, not a call to end the British connection overnight.
- The “Un-British rule” slogan attacked exploitation as a betrayal of British liberty.
- Both ideas are true for Moderates, but the Un-British-rule slogan does not explain the modernisation belief — they are related but separate Moderate ideas.
- Their methods were facts, books, budget speeches, and British friends in Parliament.
- Mass boycott was not their first weapon.
- Gokhale is the stock Moderate.
- He founded the Servants of India Society in 1905.
- He was Congress President at Banaras in 1905.

- Gandhi later called him his political teacher.
- After 1905 Partition, Extremists said Moderate methods had failed. Surat 1907 split the two camps. Lucknow 1916 brought them back together.

> Logic: Moderates criticised the economic drain; they were not blind loyalists. Both can be true without one explaining the other.

PYQ — UPPCS Prelims 2024, Q135

Given below are two statements, one is labelled as Assertion (A) and the other as Reason (R).

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2024 Q135): Assertion-Reason: Most early nationalists considered British rule as an act of providence destined to bring modernization (True). They complained against un-British rule in India without seeking direct severance (True, but R does not explain A).

9.7 Extremists (Garam Dal)

- Extremists rose as Partition of Bengal (1905) and the limits of petition politics became clear.
- The triad is Lal–Bal–Pal.
- Their methods were Swadeshi (स्वदेशी), boycott of foreign goods, national education, and passive resistance (निष्क्रिय प्रतिरोध).
- Swaraj was stated as a right, not a reward for loyalty.
- They used festivals, the vernacular press and volunteers.
- As a group they were still not the bomb-throwing revolutionary stream (that stream is Topic 11).

Lal–Bal–Pal — regional bases

Leader	Province / base	Paper	Signature method
Lala Lajpat Rai ("Lal")	Punjab — Lahore	The Punjabee	Swadeshi + Arya Samaj-linked mass appeal
Bal Gangadhar Tilak ("Bal")	Maharashtra — Poona	Kesari, Maratha (मराठा)	Festivals-as-politics; "Swaraj is my birthright"
Bipin Chandra Pal (बिपिन चंद्र पाल) ("Pal")	Bengal — Calcutta	Bande Mataram, New India	Swadeshi orator; theorist of passive resistance
Aurobindo (अरविंद) Ghosh (allied Bengal intellectual, not in the triad name)	Bengal — Calcutta	Editor, Bande Mataram	Ideological voice of "new nationalism"

Surat Split, 1907 — Cause → Course → Result

Causes

- Congress had planned a regular rotation: Naoroji presided at Calcutta 1906; Bombay was to host 1907.
- Extremists wanted the 1907 Surat session to reaffirm the Swadeshi, boycott and national-education resolutions of 1906 without dilution, and pushed for an Extremist-line President.
- Moderates insisted on Rash Behari Ghosh as President and wanted to soften the 1906 resolutions.
- Behind the chair fight sat the deeper quarrel: petition politics versus assertive Swadeshi after Partition of Bengal.

Course

- At the Surat pandal in December 1907, the argument over the President's chair turned physical — shoes and chairs were thrown, and the session broke up in disorder before business could be conducted.
- Moderates then held their own session with Ghosh in the chair; Extremists held a rump meeting separately.

Results

- Two Congresses existed in practice until the 1916 Lucknow reunion.
- The government used the split years to exile and jail Extremist leaders (Lajpat Rai's short Mandalay deportation; Tilak's long Mandalay sentence — table below).
- At Lucknow in 1916, Ambika Charan (चारण) Majumdar presided. Moderates and Extremists reunited, and the same session produced the Lucknow Pact with the Muslim League, accepting separate electorates as a bargain.
- Home Rule in 1916 under Tilak and Besant carried Extremist energy into a new constitutional form (full detail in Topic 12).

Extremist crackdown — exile and imprisonment years

The government moved against Extremist leaders in the years right after Surat. Keep each leader's penalty and year separate — they are not identical.

Leader	Penalty	Years
Lala Lajpat Rai	Deported to Mandalay without trial under Regulation III of 1818	May–November 1907 (six months)
Bal Gangadhar Tilak	Convicted of sedition; transported to Mandalay	1908–14 (six years)
Bipin Chandra Pal	Self-exile in England to avoid testifying against Aurobindo in the Bande Mataram sedition case	1908–1911
Aurobindo Ghosh	Tried in the Alipore Bomb Case; acquitted, then withdrew from politics to Pondicherry (पांडिचेरी)	Case 1908–09; Pondicherry from 1910

> Logic: Surat 1907 = split. Lucknow 1916 = reunion + League pact. Lucknow Pact is not 1911. Lajpat Rai's Mandalay (लाजपत राय) (1907, six months) is a different event from Tilak's Mandalay (तिलक > मंडाले) (1908–14, sedition sentence).

9.8 Bal Gangadhar Tilak

Life:1856–1920 (Ratnagiri; died Bombay, 1 August 1920) Title:LokmanyaPapers:*Kesari (Marathi, 1881) and Maratha (English) Home Rule League:1916 (Poona / Maharashtra–Karnataka belt)

- Tilak taught at Fergusson College and worked with the Deccan Education Society (1884) before full-time politics.
- He turned Ganapati Utsav (1893) and Shivaji festival (1895) into public political schools.
- Valentine Chirol called him the Father of Indian Unrest.
- He accused Moderates of prayer, petition and protest politics. His funeral bier (1 August 1920) was lifted by Gandhi, Shaukat Ali and others.
- He opposed the Age of Consent Act, 1891.
- Behramji Malabari (मालाबारी) advocated the Act.
- Tilak's Extremist wing did not support the Age of Consent Act; Malabari did.
- He was jailed for sedition in 1897, after the Chapekar context, and again in 1908.
- He spent 1908–14 in Mandalay.
- There he wrote Gita Rahasya.
- Famous line: "Swaraj is my birthright and I shall have it."
- He never presided over an INC session. He was a giant of the Surat Extremists, not a Congress President.
- In 1916 he started a Home Rule League beside Annie Besant's league. He died in 1920, just as Non-Cooperation (असहयोग) was being shaped.

> Logic: Tilak = never INC President + Kesari + Home Rule 1916 + opposed Age of Consent. Gokhale did preside (1905).

9.9 Dadabhai Naoroji

Life:1825–1917Title:Grand Old Man of IndiaTheory:Drain of WealthBook:Poverty and Un-British Rule in India — 1901

- He was a Parsi teacher and businessman.
- He was the first Indian professor at Elphinstone.
- Later he was a merchant and public man in London.
- Founded the East India Association (1866) in London.
- He sat in the British House of Commons as Liberal MP for Central Finsbury (1892) — first Indian MP in that House.
- Drain theory said India's wealth left as salaries, pensions, home charges, profits and unequal trade (पण्याध्यक्ष).

- Poverty was produced, not natural.
- Poverty and Un-British Rule in India was published in 1901. “Un-British” here means rule that violates Britain’s own standards — the same Moderate vocabulary as the “Un-British rule” critique.
- He was Congress President three times.
- The years were 1886 Calcutta, 1893 Lahore and 1906 Calcutta.
- At Calcutta 1906, Congress adopted Swaraj as a goal in Naoroji’s presidentship.
- He remained a Moderate in method and a radical in economic diagnosis. Gokhale and the early Congress treated him as the senior economist-statesman.

> Logic: Book year = 1901, not 1900/1902/1903. East India Association 1866 is his. Three presidentships.

PYQ — UPPCS Prelims 2021, Q139

> [!TIP] Exam Anchor (UPPCS 2021 Q139): Dadabhai Naoroji’s landmark book "Poverty and Un-British Rule in India" was published in 1901 in London, expounding the economic Drain Theory.

9.10 Freedom Leaders of the Early Nationalist Phase

A.O. Hume

- He was a retired ICS officer.

Surendranath Banerjee

- He founded the Indian Association in 1876.
- He organised the Indian National Conference in 1883 and 1885.

- His book is A Nation in Making (ए नेशन इन मेकिंग).
- He was called “Surrender Not” in the ICS-age agitation memory.

Pherozeshah Mehta

- He was called the Lion of Bombay.
- He helped found the Bombay Presidency Association in 1885.
- He was a leading Moderate.

Badruddin Tyabji

- He belonged to the Bombay Presidency Association.
- He was the first Muslim Congress President, at Madras 1887.

Lala Lajpat Rai

- He was the Punjab Extremist (Lal of Lal–Bal–Pal).
- He presided over the 1920 Calcutta Special session.
- His book is The Story of My Deportation (डिपोर्टेशन).
- He did preside, unlike Tilak.

Bipin Chandra Pal

- He was the Bengal Extremist (Pal of Lal–Bal–Pal).
- He was a Swadeshi orator.
- He is not the stock “never president” trap in the 2021 set.

Annie Besant

- She was a Theosophical leader.
- She ran a Home Rule League in 1916.
- She was the first woman Congress President, at Calcutta 1917.

Rash Behari Ghosh

- He was the Moderate President-tag at the broken Surat 1907 session.
